The Democratic State Convention at Syracuse—Arrival of Delegates—The Office-Holders Among Them—The Tammany Delegates—Demands of the Brooklyn Men.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

SYRACUSE, Sept. 21.—Delegates to the Democratic State Convention, which is to assemble at Wieting Hall, in this city, at 12 M. to-morrow, are arriving in large numbers by every train. This is the first time in six years that the Democracy have held their State Convention here, and the people of Syracuse manifest a laudable curiosity to see what improvement has been made in the representative men of the party since that time. The arrivals thus far denote a more respectable crowd than has been wont to assemble at the Albany Conventions, which is probably attributable to the fact that fewer roughs have accompanied the New-York delegation here, owing to the distance, than when the Conventions were held at the State capital. Most of the New-York and Brooklyn delegates arrived in the 2 o'clock train this afternoon, and make their headquarters at the Vanderbilt House. Their names have doubtless been published in the TIMES ere this, and there is no need of repeating the list. If there is a man among them who is not an office-holder, I have failed to recognize him. A large share of them hold two or three offices each—some of them half a dozen. But this is all right, no doubt, and as it should be; for who so well fitted to nominate candidates for office as he who holds office? Here is Grand Sachem WILLIAM M. TWEED, for instance, who heads the New-York delegation, and who holds more offices than any man in this country. Don't he know the qualifications requisite for an office-holder? I reckon he does. The Tammany delegation is accompanied by a few outsiders in the capacity of counsellors and advisers, chief of whom are PETER B. SWEENEY and Comptroller CONNOLLY. They profess not to have brought up any "slate" this year, but are going to play the meek and accommodating with their rural brethren. They take it as a "matter of course that the present State ticket is to be renominated"—at least all that portion of it that they care anything about; that is to say, the Secretary of State, Comptroller and Attorney-General. They would like also to see BRISTOL renominated for State Treasurer, but are not strenuous on that point. The Canal Commissioner, State Prison Inspector and State Engineer they are willing to give to the country Democracy. As for the Judges of the Court of Appeals, of whom there are two to be elected, they have with becoming modesty concluded not to put forward any candidate, as Tammany Judges are at a discount just now.

The Brooklyn delegation, however, are pressing Judge LOTT for one of the vacancies in the Court of Appeals, and Tammany has agreed to go in and help them. Some kind of a sop was necessary to appease the wrath of the Brooklynites at the rough treatment they received in the last State Convention, when they tried to run MURPHY against HOFFMAN; and, if they will be content with LOTT, Tammany will give them LOTT in welcome, and LOTT's wife too, if they want. Anything for peace and harmony, you know, provided always that Tammany gets what it wants. The other vacancy in the Court of Appeals will be awarded to the country without question, and Judge COMSTOCK appears to be the most prominent candidate at present. For Canal Commissioner WM. H. WRIGHT, of Ontario, is most frequently mentioned, and for State Prison Inspector, THOS. KEARNEY, of Albany, appears to have a good show. There is nothing certain, however, as yet with regard to any of the candidates, and will not be until after the caucusing this evening.

Character of the Delegates—Tammany Shows the White Feather—She is Modest, and Makes a Virtue of Necessity—The "Dead Issues" to be Fought Over in the Campaign.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

SYRACUSE, Sept. 21—Evening.—The evening trains have come in loaded with delegates, and nearly all are now here. The average character of the delegations is of a higher order than that of Democratic Conventions for several years past. Prominent among the country delegates are such men as FRANK KERNAN, Lieutenant-Governor BEACH, A. S. PAGE, Judge MILLER, JNO. GANSON and others. HORATIO SEYMOUR, although elected a delegate from Oneida County, has decided not to attend the Convention. Many prominent Democratic politicians are here as outsiders, among them JAS. ALLEN, State Comptroller; Senator MURPHY and J. C. JACOBS, of Kings County; Surrogate TUCKER and Senators NORTON, CREAMER and GENET, of New-York.

THE GREAT BATTLE NOT TO BE FOUGHT.

The Convention is likely to be very harmonious and tame. The fight that many anticipated between Tammany Hall and the country Democracy, arising out of a rumored attempt by the former to oust TILDEN from the Chairmanship of the State Central Committee, will not come off. Tammany tendered the olive branch by electing TILDEN one of her own delegates, and so far from war against what she stigmatizes as the "old fogies" of the party, has taken a sudden liking for them, and as proof of her affection has brought up, as another of her delegates, the almost forgotten GEORGE LAW.

THE REASON WHY.

It is fortunate that Tammany did not carry out her threatened fight with the rural Democracy, for had she done so, both she and the rest of mankind would have discovered how utterly weak and powerless she is outside of Manhattan Island. A thorough canvass of the State had been made in preparation for the contest, and had it been pressed by Tammany, the entire State, with the exception of, perhaps, a portion of Kings County, would have been a unit against her. This would have been a bad showing for the Ring that aims to control the Democracy, not only of the State, but of the nation, and therefore it was very shrewd in Tammany to back out of the fight. She presents herself before the Convention this year clothed in modesty. She asks nothing for herself, and will allow the country to make up its own slate. Her delegates are all well dressed—most of them wear diamonds, and she challenges the admiration of the prejudiced country Democracy for her respectable appearance. She has also brought up three or four of her most flowery orators—Mayor HALL, O'GORMAN, and Sunset COX—and intends to astonish the rural mind with her eloquence, and prove that she possesses genius as well as jewelry. In a word, Tammany is here this year in her best attire and on her good behavior, hoping to counteract the prejudice of the rural districts and conceal her innate rottenness and rascality.

THE PROBABLE NOMINATIONS.

The nominations will be substantially as foreshadowed in my first dispatch. All the present incumbents who are Democrats will be renominated. The main contest will be on State Prison Inspector, for which there are a dozen aspirants, with the chances in favor of STEVENS, the present member of Assembly from Rome.

THE PLATFORM.

The resolutions will be of similar tenor to those adopted at the last State Convention. The dead issues are to be all fought over again. There will be opposition to the Fifteenth Amendment, and opposition to the entire new State Constitution, with the exception of the Judiciary clause. Bonds are to be paid "according to contract," but a speedy return to specie payments is urged, so that it wont make any difference what the contract was or is. A few "glittering generalities" about a firm foreign policy, sympathy for oppressed nationalities struggling for liberty, speedy restoration of the States, opposition to military rule, &c., will make up the balance of the platform.

The Convention will be called to order by SAM. TILDEN, who will be reëlected Chairman of the State Committee. GANSON or SLOCUM will probably be temporary Chairman, and Lieutenant-Governor BEACH permanent President.

Dispatch to the Associated Press.

SYRACUSE, Sept. 21.—Nearly all the delegates to the Democratic State Convention are in the city. Mayor HALL, PETER B. SWEENEY, WM. M. TWEED and GEORGE LAW are here, and each quite active. The most prominent candidates to-night are: For Court of Appeals, Judge LOTT, of Kings; HAND, of Essex, and EARL, of Herkimer County. Judges COMSTOCK, GRAY, and PARKER decline candidacy. For Canal Commissioner, W. W. WRIGHT. For State Prison Inspector, F. L. LAFLIN, of Ulster, THOMAS KEARNEY, of Albany, and J. M. STEVENS, of Oneida. There are at least a dozen names mentioned for this nomination. There is general good feeling among the delegates, with a larger share of confidence than has been witnessed at a Democratic State Convention for years.

A Candidate for the Assembly.

The Albany Evening Journal says that MATTHEW P. BEMUS, who succeeded last Winter in voting for one candidate for United States Senator and electing another, has been renominated for the Assembly in the Second District of Chatauqua. The Journal adds:

> "In some quarters it is objected that the Honorable MATTHEW has not shown himself strictly scrupulous and regardful of the public interests. Those who prefer this complaint should remember that a man cannot run a railroad 'ring' and serve the public at the same time. In such a contingency, he must necessarily choose his master. The Honorable MATTHEW made his choice last Winter, and his master—not the public, as it happened—says that he was faithful and useful."

MASSACHUSETTS.

The Republican State Convention at Worcester—Its Probable Action—The Struggle to be on the Platform—The Temperance Movement.

From Our Own Correspondent.

BOSTON, Tuesday, Sept. 21, 1869.

The Republicans of Massachusetts hold their State Convention at Worcester to-morrow. Senator SUMNER has consented to act as its presiding officer, and his address will form the most important and interesting feature of the proceedings, for the actual labor of the Convention bids fair to be wholly confined to the adoption of a platform. The State ticket will remain substantially unchanged. In the early part of the year some opposition to the renomination of Governor CLAFLIN manifested itself in quarters where radical temperance principles found little sympathy, and at one time the chances for the nomination of Hon. HARVEY JEWELL were by no means slight; while Hon. ALEXANDER H. RICE and Ex-Chief Justice BIGELOW were favorably mentioned in connection with the gubernatorial office. But the past few weeks have restored harmony to Republican councils, and to-morrow Governor CLAFLIN will undoubtedly be renominated with hardly a dissenting voice. The voluntary retirement of General HENRY S. BRIGGS from the office of the State Auditor will render the selection of a new candidate necessary, and it is generally understood that Mr. JULIUS L. CLARKE, for many years connected with the office as chief clerk, will receive the nomination.

It is upon the resolutions, however, that the Convention is likely to find some difficulty in reaching an agreement. The Prohibitionists and the license men both desire recognition. A third party advocates the maintenance of a position between these two extremes, while a fourth party, and a very influential one, urges a strict neutrality. The latter course is the favorite with thinking men, who believe it unnecessary and impolitic to subordinate to purely local and transient measures, the universal principles upon which Republicanism is founded, and by which it has grown and flourished. The suggestion that some kind of a compromise should be made on the liquor question—that a series of ambiguous resolutions, similar to those adopted by the Democratic Convention which nominated Colonel JOHN QUINCY ADAMS for Governor, should be incorporated into the platform—has been received with general and deserved disapprobation. If the causes of temperance and labor reform are to be recognized in the Convention at all, the recognition should be unequivocal, and the objects and tactics of the reformers should be squarely and honestly stated. But such a course, it is acknowledged, would be impossible, for the reason that Republicanism is not identical with prohibition, nor is Democracy a synonym for license. Radical differences of opinion will always exist between members of the same party on all questions of reform, and no party desirous of attaining or maintaining ascendancy can afford to ally its fortunes with any movement in the interests of either labor or morality. The party in power must be relied upon to exercise its influence for the protection of the whole community, and for the defence of the rights of every class of its members, without the formal expression of a faith and pledge. To this extent, at least, Republicanism must be blindly trusted.

But, after all, the tenor of the resolutions which the Worcester Convention will adopt to-morrow will have very little effect upon the campaign and its issues. The stormy and excited contest which seemed inevitable at the time of the meeting of the Democratic Convention, is now acknowledged to be almost an impossibility. The secret organizations in the interest of the license faction, which flourished so bravely two years ago, are little heard of this Fall, and in some of the large towns, where they controlled the vote when JOHN QUINCY ADAMS first asked the suffrages of his fellow-citizens, they have as yet not organized at all. Governor CLAFLIN and the rest of the State ticket will receive the almost undivided support of those who have hitherto voted with the Republican Party, and the excellent example recently set by Vermont and Maine will surely be followed by the old Bay State.

OAKHAM.

The Caucus—Important Speech of Dr. George B. Loring—The Prohibitory Liquor Question.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

WORCESTER, Mass., Sept. 21.—The eve of their annual State Convention finds much less excitement among the delegates of the Republicans of Massachusetts than was generally anticipated two months ago. Both prohibitionists and license men feel less inclined to insist upon a declaration in their favor in the platform of the Convention, and the prospect now is that the debate on the liquor question will be postponed as it was last year, to the town and county nominating Conventions and the hall of legislation. Governor CLAFLIN will be renominated with scarcely a show of opposition, and nearly all of the other gentlemen upon last year's ticket, who will consent to the use of their names, will also be renominated. No change is now mentioned, except in the office of Auditor, now held by General HENRY L. BRIGGS, recently appointed a Judge of one of the State Courts. Mr. CHAS. ENDICOTT and Mr. JULIUS L. CLARK are most prominently named to succeed him. At the meeting of the State Central Committee this evening the list of officers and committees for the Convention was made up without regard to opinions upon the liquor question, which, so far as the Committee can control matters, will be entirely ignored in the Convention. Hon. A. D. BRIGGS, of Springfield, has been selected as temporary Chairman of the Convention, and Hon. CHARLES SUMNER, in accordance with previous announcement, will be chosen as permanent President. The Chairman of the Committee on Resolutions will be Professor CHADBOURNE, of Williams College. But little has been said during the evening about the labor question; though designed to be an important element in the canvass, it is overshadowed by the liquor question at present.

THE CAUCUS-SPEECH OF DR. LORING.

In accordance with the usual custom an informal meeting of the delegates was held at Washburn Hall this afternoon. Dr. GEORGE B. LORING (Prohibition) presided, and in his opening speech greeted his audience as Massachusetts Republicans, John A. Andrew Republicans, Abraham Lincoln Republicans, Ulysses S. Grant Republicans, just as they were when they sustained the Chicago platform and the Chicago nominations. On that platform the Republicans of Massachusetts proposed to stand with unswerving firmness, let the wind blow north or south, east or west. Referring to the promises of that platform for citizenship, free suffrage and honest payment of the national debt, Dr. LORING said these promises were being faithfully carried out through the Administration of General GRANT, and the result was witnessed in the development of the resources of the country and its general peace and prosperity. The Pacific Railroad, by which the oldest nation of the world was wedded to the newest, would make New-York the great exchange of the world, and make London tributary to it. Dr. LORING was outspoken in favor of Chinese suffrage, saying that he would not leave this subject to the decision of California alone, but desired that Massachusetts should have a voice in the matter, through the National Constitution, in order that suffrage might be made uniform throughout the country. The distinction between the Republican and Democratic Parties, he maintained, was as great as ever. The latter did not yet believe in the Fifteenth Amendment to the Constitution, in free citizenship, or in the financial policy of the Republican Party. Hence the necessity of a close union of the Republican Party, and the importance of voting strictly for the party nominations, leaving difficulties to be settled as between Republicans and Republicans, instead of striking hands with Democrats.

Other speeches were made by J. F. MANNING, of Worcester; JNO. A. GOODWIN, of Lowell, and RODNEY FRENCH, of New-Bedford, all of whom contended that the issues of the Republican Party still had a mission to perform. Mr. GOODWIN, referring to the apprehended danger of a split in the Convention, asked what there was to split upon. Surely it could not be upon any question as to what we should eat or what we should drink, or wherewithal we should be clothed, for there was nothing in the Chicago Platform about eatables or drinkables, and there was no room for such issues in the Republican Party. Mr. FRENCH, though declaring that he did not favor the introduction of any new plank into the Republican Platform, advocated strong prohibitory legislation to save the country from the degradation consequent upon the debasement of its youth by drunkenness. The Republican Party, he said, must sooner or later settle this question by the adoption of prohibition.

VIRGINIA.

Installation of Governor Walker as Provisional Governor—The Oaths Taken.

RICHMOND, Va., Sept. 21.—Colonel GILBERT C. WALKER, Governor elect of this State, arrived in this city yesterday, and to-day was installed as Provisional Governor at the gubernatorial mansion, General CANBY being present. There were no unusual forms or ceremonies, the Governor merely taking the oaths required, which are the anti-duelling oath, the oath of fidelity to the Commonwealth, the oath of office, and the test oath required by the act of Congress of July 2, 1862. There were no demonstrations except the gathering of a large crowd of white and colored persons to congratulate the new Governor, who shook hands with them. Governor WALKER, on his arrival, was handed the certificate of his election as Governor on the 6th of July, neatly printed on parchment and signed by General CANBY, Commander of District No. 1.

Ex-Governor WELLS turned over such papers as he had in his possession pertaining to the office. Governor WELLS had made a report to General CANBY of all pardons granted by him, and the special circumstances inducing an extension of Executive clemency in each case. There remain but three cases not acted on to be turned over to the incoming Governor, viz., the case of JAMES JETER PHILLIPS, sentenced to be hung, and that of SAM. BAKER, also sentenced to be hung. Both of these cases are now before the United States Court on habeas corpus, and the sentences respited until Friday, Nov. 26. Also the case of R. H. WHITEHEAD, found guilty of murder in the second degree, and under an eighteen years' sentence. The papers in this last case are not complete, hence no action has been taken. WHITEHEAD is in the City Jail.

Governor WELLS will remain in this city and practice his profession.

The first appointment made by Governor WALKER, after assuming the duties of his office, was that of Captain WM. E. CAMERON, editor of the Petersburg Index, as his Secretary. Captain CAMERON was an officer in the Federal army, and one of the first and most determined supporters of the Walker Republican ticket in the late campaign.

The Question of Electing United States Senators from Virginia—The Feeling in Richmond.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—Reliable advices from Richmond, received to-day, represent that the sentiment in favor of an election of United States Senators at the meeting of the Legislature on the 5th prox., is rapidly gaining ground. All the Wells Republican members will favor it, and so will the Walker Republicans, as well as many of the so-called Conservatives. A number of the latter, classified as "Bitter-enders," oppose the election now, urging that if postponed until the State is admitted, the Legislature then can act free from restraint, which means that they can then elect just such men as they choose, without reference to their acceptability to Congress. It will be a serious mistake if such a policy shall prevail. If any one thing is certain about the admission of Virginia, it is that after having admitting the State with an expurgated Constitution, Congress will not remove the disabilities of any man to enable him to take his seat in either House so long as the victorious party in the State has men in its ranks who can comply with the requirements of the Fourteenth Amendment. It is understood in Richmond that the Conservative Committee of nine which managed the Walker canvass have resolved to oppose the election of Senators until after the State is admitted.

MISCELLANEOUS.

The Maine Election—All but Thirty-Seven Towns Heard from.

AUGUSTA, Me., Sept. 21.—The entire vote of the State has been received, except from thirty-seven small towns and plantations. The total exceeds all the estimates, reaching 93,820, of which CHAMBERLAIN received 50,901, SMITH 38,277, and HICHBORN 4,642. CHAMBERLAIN'S majority over both, 7,982. Last year these cities and towns gave a total vote of 131,266, of which CHAMBERLAIN received 75,835, and PILLSBURY 55,431. CHAMBERLAIN'S majority, 20,404. The towns and plantations not yet heard from gave, last year, a total vote of 516. CHAMBERLAIN'S majority this year will be 8,000. The Senate stands 28 Republicans, 3 Democrats—a Democratic gain of 1. The House stands 113 Republicans to 34 Democrats, with four districts to hear from. Last year the House stood: Republicans 121, Democrats 30. The real Republican majority this year, adding CHAMBERLAIN'S and HICHBORN'S vote, is 17,266.

The Pennsylvania Campaign—The Prospect.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—The Republicans of Pennsylvania don't appear to entertain any doubt that they will carry the State in the coming election. Philadelphia will, it is confidently asserted, give a good majority to the Republican candidates. The registration will not be so heavy as last year. Nearly all the Pennsylvanians in this city have been registered.

LOCAL POLITICS.

Brooklyn Republican Primaries.

The Brooklyn primary elections were held in the various wards last evening, for the election of delegates to the nine Assembly District Conventions to be held in Kings County this evening. The following is the result:

First Ward.—L. M. Peck, L. Lewis, E. A. Studwell, John H. Kelly, R. Cotter.

Second Ward.—A. G. Becude, Samuel Martin, George Williams, Isaac Davis, Joseph B. King.

Third Ward.—A. B. Thorn, H. N. Holt, G. H. Roberts, M. G. Bulkeley, W. Macdonald.

Fourth Ward.—Joseph Reeve, J. J. Couch, D. H. Way, M. Simmons, Seth R. Robbins.

Fifth Ward.—Charles R. Phillips, John G. Noonan, D. Pendergrast, William Loughhead, George Burns.

Sixth Ward.—John Cockle, M. P. Bestow, Theodore Shot, John Radican, L. H. Brockw.

Seventh Ward.—Joseph P. Denike, Joseph T. Sands, Lewis H. Robinson, Sr., James H. Wheeler, Benjamin H. Parker.

Eighth Ward.—Garret P. Bergen, Alexander Mercready, William D. Mahoney, William Wood, John W. Dempsey.

Ninth Ward.—John D. Hanning, George N. Shelton, Arthur Creighton, George H. Davenport, Solomon Styler.

Tenth Ward.—J. B. Wass, George Thomas, R. F. Howes, T. W. Farmer, J. T. Whitlock.

Eleventh Ward.—Albert Ammerman, Augustus C. Tate, Ephraim M. Roberts, William H. Debevoise, Edward B. Fowler.

Twelfth Ward.—Wm. H. Burleigh, John Tibken, Patrick Byrnes, Thomas Nolan, P. D. O'Sullivan.

Thirteenth Ward.—Joseph R. Thomas, C. L. Johnson, John W. Coe, James Markey, Geo. Burr.

Fourteenth Ward.—John T. Venus, Abram B. Ackerly, James Clandinen, John Sterritt, Thos. Bates.

Fifteenth Ward.—John Davies, William Allen, Harvey Brundage, David Bain, Edward Walker.

Sixteenth Ward.—Robert J. Rudd, George H. Lindsay, Louis Froelich, William Haffner, Henry Jones.

Seventeenth Ward.—John McDiarmid, Chauncey Perry, Jesse Canfield, Wm. Penny, Daniel W. L. Moore.

Eighteenth Ward.—Adam Rudd, Charles Chapman, Alfred Dunham, John Nimmo, Thomas H. Lunney.

Nineteenth Ward.—Frederick Scholes, George H. Fisher, John F Ames, Joseph Walter, Adolph Wilson.

Twentieth Ward.—S. C. Belcher, A. P. Higgins, J. W. Harman, Conklin Smith, David Wilson.

Twenty-first Ward.—Judson C. Watson, Gilbert De Revere, Hiram Smith, Nelson J. Gates, John L. Guischard.

Twenty-second Ward.—John L. Spader, Wm. H. Maxwell, Frank Irish, John Hall, John V. Lott.

The only return from the towns is that from New-Lotts: John Ives, Henry Miller, A. H. W. Van Sicken, C. Ulrich, R. W. Merriott.

Republican Conference Committees.

The Committees of Conference from the two Republican organizations of this City, appointed with a view to harmonizing the interests of the party in this locality, met at Room No. 51 Astor House, yesterday afternoon, but did nothing of importance in the way of effecting the object for which they were convened. An adjournment was had till this afternoon at 4 o'clock.

United Republican Central Committee.

At a meeting of the United Republican Central Committee, held last evening at Apollo Hall, Mr. E. KETCHUM in the chair, a Committee consisting of five members was appointed to confer with the other two organizations, with a view to reorganizing and forming a sort of consolidated basis. The Committees meet to-day at the Astor House.

Thirteenth Assembly District Union Republican Association.

A special meeting of the Thirteenth Assembly District Union Republican Association was held last evening at No. 161 Eighth-avenue. On the opening of the meeting, a majority of the persons present denied its legality and refused to recognize the authority of Mr. DUMVILLE, the Chairman, on the ground that he had been deposed from the position of President of the Association and Mr. JOHN A. MEEKS chosen in his stead. Several attempts were made at explanation, and the meeting finally adjourned without transacting any business.

Seventh Ward Democratic Association.

This organization met last evening at Botanic Hall, No. 68 East Broadway, the President, Mr. O'DONNEL, in the chair. Mr. PETER B. SWEENEY said that he was not in favor of the removal of AUGUST BELMONT. The Seventh Ward represented the true Democracy. He thought the party ought to be remodeled, and efforts would be made for that object. Resolutions and speeches supporting the nomination of WM. M. TWEED for Senator, T. SHANDLEY for Judge, R. WALTERS for Alderman, and WM. H. TRACEY for Justice of the Fourth District Police Court, were made by Mr. C. H. SOLOMON, Mr. MILLER, Mr. LITTLE and others, and the meeting adjourned.

Seventh Ward Young Men's Democratic Club.

This Club, which has been organized in the interest of WM. M. TWEED, to promote that gentleman's return to the Senate, met last night, when a banner was raised in honor of their candidate. A rostrum was erected at the corner of Cherry and Gouverneur streets, and here addresses were delivered by A. J. ROGERS, of New-Jersey; P. J. MCALLEAR, and Captain RYNDERS. The officers of the Club are: President, J. C. KEATING; Vice-President, JAMES SWEENEY; Secretary, ANDREW BRADY.

Sixth Senatorial District German Independent Club.

A meeting of this Club was held last evening at No. 114 Third-street, Colonel S. LEVY presiding. The Club indorsed JACOB HESSEL for member of Assembly, Colonel LEVY for Alderman, WM. FISHER for Assistant Alderman, and FRANCIS V. EWING for Police Justice.

The Next Mayor of Newark.

Ex-Governor WARD, who was nominated for Mayor of Newark by the Republican City Convention, has not yet signified his acceptance, and as he has repeatedly stated his intention not to be a candidate, it is probable that the Convention will soon be called to nominate another man. DANIEL W. BAKER, President of the Common Council, is named, and upon the Democratic side Mr. A. A. SMALLEY.

THE CUBAN QUESTION.

The Excitement Caused by the Sickles Note Unabated—The London Times Declares the Note a Mistake—The Document Carefully Withdrawn from the Public.

MADRID, Sept. 21.—The journals of this city are still violent against the presumed unfriendliness of the American Government. Some of them urge an immediate declaration of war, if the Cubans are recognized as belligerents. The Ministry, after discussing the propriety of returning SICKLES' note unanswered, have decided to postpone their reply until the arrival of General PRIM.

LONDON, Sept. 21.—The Paris correspondent of the Times writes as follows: "The note of the American Minister to the Spanish Government, in regard to Cuba, varies both in its tone and conclusions from the diplomatic communications between the Spanish Minister at Washington and the Government of the United States. The diplomatic experience of General SICKLES is limited, and probably insufficient to enable him to rightly estimate the value and effect of his words. Doubtless he is much surprised at the excitement they have created, and it will be difficult for his Government to approve of them. No pretext exists for recognizing the Cuban insurrection, which does not hold a single town or position, and owes its prolongation to the action of the climate on its opponents, and to the facilities afforded to the insurgents in a thinly-peopled country. The appointment of General SICKLES as Minister to Spain was greatly criticised, and has not yet been sanctioned by the Senate. That body will do itself credit by refusing to confirm the appointment of a man who has made so bad a first appearance in diplomacy."

A letter from Madrid to the Standard says: "General SICKLES in his note intimates that the Government at Washington might, under the force of public opinion, be compelled to recognize the Cuban insurgents. He reminds the Spanish Government of the good faith with which the United States has hitherto preserved its respect for international law, and of its unwillingness to embarrass Spain. Altogether the note is not of an alarming nature, but the reticence of the Government, allowing the people to remain in ignorance of its contents, justifies the violent articles which have appeared in the Spanish papers for the past few days."

Rumored Withdrawal of the Sickles Note.

MADRID, Sept. 21.—The Epoca says General SICKLES has withdrawn his note. The statement is not generally believed.

Aid Offered to the Spaniards by the Alianza Bank.

HAVANA, Sept. 21.—The Directors of the Alianza Bank have offered aid to the Government, for the purpose of carrying on the war, to the amount of the total profits of the bank while the rebellion lasts. The Directors have paid, on account of such amount, $30,000.

FRANCE.

A Recalcitrant Monk—Mysterious Murder of a Family—The Chinese Embassy—The Corps Legislatif.

PARIS, Sept. 21.—The papers of this city publish a letter from the preacher-monk, Father HYACINTHE, addressed to the Father-General of his order at Rome, announcing that he abandons his convent and ceases henceforth to preach in the Church of Notre Dame of Paris. As a reason for this radical step, he declares that he cannot obey the orders of the Holy See. He protests, before the Pope and the Council, against doctrines and practices of the Romish Church which, as he contends, are not in accordance with the principles of Christianity. The French journals regard the letter of Pere HYACINTHE as a great religious and political event.

THE ECUMENICAL COUNCIL.

The Pope's Reply to Dr. Cumming—The True Meaning of the Invitation.

LONDON, Sept. 21.—The Pope has sent a communication to Cardinal MANNING in reference to the proposal of Dr. CUMMING to appear at the Ecumenical Council. The Pope refers Dr. CUMMING to the terms of the letter of invitation addressed to Protestants, and says he will find that it is an invitation, not to a discussion, but only to profit by the opportunity to return to the Church. The Pope says in conclusion that there is no room at the Council for the defence of errors which have already been condemned.

The Times, commenting on the above, says the decision of Rome on Dr. CUMMING's application is pronounced with unexpected promptitude.

The Pope must have acquainted himself with the purport of Dr. CUMMING's letter through the newspapers and replied before its receipt. Dr. CUMMING is to be congratulated on the authoritative reply elicited. The Pope speaks plainly. If the Doctor had considered the claims of the Church, he would have seen that there could be no room for him in the Council.

Another Writer on the Stowe-Byron Scandal—Mysterious Disappearance of an Edinburgh Personage.

LONDON, Sept. 21.—Mr. CYRUS REDDING, in a letter on the Byron controversy, expresses the belief that the charge made by Mrs. STOWE never existed out of her own brain. He says Lady BYRON steadily refused to state the reason of the separation.

WHELPLEY, the defrauder, has been convicted, and sentenced to penal servitude for seven years.

EDINBURGH, Sept. 21.—Right Hon. GEORGE PATTON, Lord Justice Clerk of Scotland, has unaccountably disappeared. Nothing has been heard of him since Monday morning, and it is feared he has been foully dealt with.

GERMANY.

The Dresden Theatre Burning—Prussia and Baden.

DRESDEN, Sept. 21.—The Dresden Theatre caught fire this morning during a rehearsal, and is now in flames. It will be impossible to save the building.

PARIS, Sept. 21.—La Patrie accuses Prussia of endeavoring to bring Baden into the Confederation of the North, in violation of the stipulations of the Treaty of Prague.

HOLLAND.

Opening of the States-General—Proposed Reforms in Colonial Government.

THE HAGUE, Sept. 20.—The session of the States-General was opened to-day by a speech from the throne. The foreign relations of the Kingdom were reviewed and declared to be satisfactory. Amongst other subjects of legislation, reforms in the government of the colonies are proposed, and the removal of all restrictions upon emigration to Guiana.

ITALY.

The Grist-Mill Riots—An Amnesty Granted.

FLORENCE, Sept. 21.—It is officially announced that the Committee appointed to investigate the late grist-mill riots have reported in favor of granting an amnesty to all implicated those disturbances.

EGYPT.

The Khedive's Visit to Constantinople.

ALEXANDRIA, Sept. 21.—It is reported that ISHMAEL PASHA has countermanded the orders he had given to make preparations for his journey to Constantinople.

THE WAR IN PARAGUAY.

Brazilian and French Accounts of the Last Engagement—The End of the War yet Doubtful.

PARIS, Sept. 21.—Reports from Brazilian sources represent that the defeat of President LOPEZ at Ascurra was a complete rout, and that the struggle was ended. La Patrie, on the other hand, has different accounts, which, while acknowledging that the Paraguayans have suffered a reverse, maintain that LOPEZ is still able and determined to continue the war.

Señor PARANHOS, the Brazilian Commissioner to Paraguay, had returned to Rio Janeiro.

CHINA.

Mr. Browne's Chinese Policy Reviewed—Evasion of Forced Treaties to be Expected.

LONDON, Sept. 21.—The Pall Mall Gazette reviews the idea of a Chinese policy put forth by Mr. BROWNE, late American Minister to China. It says the sum of his argument is the opening of new markets to Christian traders. In point of fact there is nothing to show that the difficulties between foreigners and the Chinese are merely questions of interpretation. A truer account would be that the former forced the Chinese to grant privileges which the latter, not daring to withdraw, seek to evade. The extortion of such privileges is a mistake. If intercourse with China is to be better than a series of little wars, we must be content to measure the right of trade with China by her willingness to trade with us.

CANADA.

Movements of Prince Arthur—The Provincial Exhibition at London.

TORONTO, Canada, Sept. 21.—Prince ARTHUR arrived here on a special train at 11 o'clock this morning. He stopped fifteen minutes, and left for London, where he will arrive at 5 o'clock. Crowds assembled at the stations on the route, and greeted him with cheers.

LONDON, Sept. 21.—The twenty-fourth annual exhibition of the Province of Ontario began in this city to-day, and will continue Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. It promises to be the most successful ever held in Canada. His Royal Highness Prince ARTHUR, the Governor-General, Sir JOHN YOUNG, and the Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario will visit the grounds to-morrow.

The Confederation Question in Newfoundland and Prince Edward—An Active Campaign.

HALIFAX, N. S., Sept. 21.—Reports from Newfoundland say the country is becoming agitated by the confederation discussions. The Unionists are well organized and have a large part of the Press in their favor. They have issued a campaign paper, and look forward with confidence to victory at the election. The Anti-Unionists are by no means idle. Their steamer has made trips about the colony, carrying Anti-Union speakers, and no labor is spared to defeat the confederation scheme.

In the course of a few weeks a proposition will be made to the Government of Prince Edward Island, by the Government of Canada, in regard to the terms on which that island will be received into the Confederacy. If the former Government think the propositions made by the Dominion fair and equitable, the House will at once be dissolved, and the whole question submitted to the people.

LONDON, Ontario, Sept. 21.—This city is aglow with enthusiasm. Sir JOHN YOUNG arrived on a special train at 10:30 o'clock this morning. Prince ARTHUR arrived at 5 o'clock this afternoon. Crowds assembled at the stations at St. Marys and Strafford, and greeted him with cheers. The Prince was received here by Sir JOHN YOUNG, the Mayor and Corporation. An address and a reply were made. He drove to the Glackmeyer House. The windows of the houses were filled with ladies, and flags were displayed everywhere. The Prince will visit the exhibition to-morrow, and on Friday will leave for Sarnia.

The Union Pacific Railroad—Receipts.

BOSTON, Sept. 21.—The Executive Committee of the Union Pacific Railroad are in session here to-day. The earnings of the road for the first fifteen days of September amounted to $358,724 62; for the same time in August, $268,880 45; an increase of $89,844 17, indicating an increase of the month of at least $175,000, notwithstanding the great reduction of the rates of freight and fare.

The Odd Fellows in San Francisco—Express Business on the Pacific Railroad.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Sept. 20.—At the afternoon session of the Grand Lodge of Odd Fellows, the Grand Officers presented their reports, and Standing Committees were appointed. The reports exhibit a gratifying condition of the Order everywhere, with the exception of the interior of the Southern States, where it is particularly bad.

The Pacific Express Company will begin business Oct. 1. It is reported that the Central Pacific Railroad Company have notified WELLS, FARGO & Co., and the Pacific Union Express Company, not to carry their fast freight after that date.

THE UNIVERSALIST CONVENTION.

Meeting at Buffalo—Report on the Condition and Progress of the Church and its Colleges.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 21.—The United States Convention of Universalists met, at 10 o'clock this morning, at the Church of the Messiah. Rev. J. G. BARTHOMEW, of Auburn, was chosen President, and Rev. J. M. PULLMAN, of New-York City, Secretary. At the opening, delegates were present from Maine, New-Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New-York, New-Jersey, Pennsylvania, Maryland, District of Columbia, Alabama, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin, Iowa, Minnesota, Missouri, Kansas and Nebraska. The Executive Board presented a report, which was referred to a Committee of one from each State. The report announced the death of Rev. Dr. LEE, of New-York, a member of the Board; also, the resignation of Rev. Dr. BROOKS, of Philadelphia, as Secretary, and the temporary appointment of Rev. J. M. PULLMAN in his place. Rev. A. W. BRUCE, of Indiana, read a report on Sunday Schools, showing the cause generally prosperous, and recommending a closer union between the Church and the Sunday Schools. Rev. C. L. REXFORD, of Ohio, read the annual report on the state of the Church. Rev. E. H. CAPEN, of Massachusetts, read a report on education. The report states that Tufts College, Massachusetts, has assets amounting to $927,000, of which $35,000 were added last year. The Dean Academy, in the same State, is in a prosperous condition. It has property worth $200,000, a permanent fund of $50,000, with a prospective endowment of $150,000 more, making an agregate of $400,000. The Green Mountain Institute in Vermont, the oldest school of the denomination, is in successful operation. The new institute at Barre, Vt., will be completed in February at a cost of $60,000, and will be opened immediately. The Clinton Liberal Institute at Clinton, N. Y., needs more funds; its assets are $60,000. The St. Lawrence University at Canton, N. Y., needs funds; its assets are only $142,000. The Lombard University at Galesburg, Ill., is exerting immense power in the West. Its assets amount to $165,000; it needs further endowments. The Liberal Institute at Jefferson, Wis., has just been erected; it cost $32,000. More than $50,000 has been raised toward the Smithson Academy, to be immediately erected at Logansport, Ind. The average number of pupils in Universalist schools the past year was 1,450, of which thirty-three are theological students. One of the most important works accomplished the past year was the opening of the theological school at Tufts College, with Rev. A. J. SAWYER, D. D., as President. The school is amply endowed.

Appropriate notice was taken by the Convention of the death of Revs. D. K. LEE, A. R. ABBOTT, J. KINNEY, and L. L. HALLOCK. The Convention will probably sit during the entire work.

THE RECENT RAILROAD ACCIDENT

The Verdict of the Coroner's Jury—The Officials Censured—Arbitrary Conduct of the President of the Road.

WAVERLY, N. Y., Sept. 21.—The Coroner's Jury in the case of the accident at Athens, Penn., yesterday, censure S. C. MEANS, conductor of the way train, for disobedience of orders, and JOHN RAHN, train dispatcher at Towanda, for running a fast train a few minutes behind a slow one. It is rumored that MEANS has been arrested, but the officers of the Pennsylvania and New-York Railroad Company are very reticent, and apparently not solicitous of giving the details. Mr. WELLS, President of the road, instructed the Athens telegraph operator, who is his son, to give the verdict to no one without his consent, and refused to furnish for the Press the verdict on any particulars of the inquest.

Destructive Fire in New-Haven—Loss $70,000.

NEW-HAVEN, Conn., Sept. 21.—This morning a patent gas machine containing gasoline, located on the first floor of the premises No. 223 State-street, took fire through carelessness. The flames spread with great rapidity, setting the whole building on fire. The building was occupied by J. C. WOOD & Co., music dealers; TUTTLE, MOOREHOUSE & TAYLOR, job printers; H. W. THOMPSON, grocer; H. W. ROBINSON, blank-book manufacturer; and P. MCQUAIL, boot and shoe dealer. The entire loss is about $70,000, which is mostly covered by insurance. About one hundred men are thrown out of employment by this fire. The building was owned by F. S. & J. PARKER.

A Church in West Concord, N. H., Burned.

CONCORD, N. H., Sept. 21.—The Congregational Church in West Concord, which was undergoing repairs, and was to be opened on Sunday next, was destroyed by fire this morning. Loss, $10,000; insured for $3,000 in the Niagara, of New-York. An insane man, named SPEAR, from Boston, is in custody, suspected of having set fire to the church.

A Serious Break in the Erie Canal.

SYRACUSE, Sept. 21.—A serious break occurred this morning in the Erie Canal at Pool's Brook, near Kirkville. About 100 feet of embankment was carried out. The flood covered the Central Railroad track, and temporarily stopped travel. One track is now in use. It will require several days to repair the break.

The Strike of the Port Henry Miners—Violence of the Strikers.

PORT HENRY, N. Y., Sept. 21.—The strike among the miners still continues at this place. Frequent attacks are made upon the workmen employed on the ore-bed railroad. Several men have been severely beaten for working against the orders of the mob. Danger to life and property is imminent.

The President in West Virginia.

WHEELING, West Va., Sept. 21.—The President and his family arrived here this afternoon from Washington, Penn. The Mayor, accompanied by prominent citizens, met the party and escorted them to the city. Governor STEVENSON and the heads of the departments called upon the President and paid their respects.

Impeachment of the Mayor of Jefferson City, La.

NEW-ORLEANS, Sept. 21.—In the Jefferson City Common Council last night, articles of impeachment were preferred against Mayor LECHE for alleged peculations. The Mayor has been suspended. The trial begins to-morrow.

The Norfolk Shooting Affair.

NORFOLK, Va., Sept. 21.—Policeman SCULLALIS, who shot and killed Corporal SMITH, of the Seventeenth Infantry, last Saturday night, was to-day released on $1,000 bail to appear for trial before the October term of the Corporation Court.

Another Storm in Minnesota.

CHICAGO, Sept. 21.—A dispatch from St. Paul says, after two dry, pleasant days a thunder storm occurred Sunday night, putting grain in stock back to its former condition.

NEW PUBLICATIONS.

WALTER OGILBY. A Novel. By the authoress of "Wau-Bun." Philadelphia: J. B. LIPPINCOTT & Co., 1869.

The author of this unpretending and pleasant story has many qualities essential to a good novelist, among which are a generous and ready appreciation of natural beauty and moral worth, an uncommon amount of information, and a keen sense of the ridiculous. She has likewise these advantages over some of her contemporaries, that her style is easy and natural, that she never aims to say fine things, and that she deals principally with such matters as have come within her own knowledge and experience. The heartiness and sincerity with which she dwells upon and describes, in its minutest details, our country ways of living, seem to us delightful, and she infuses enough sentiment to make a story interesting, which treats of a period in American life before young ladies had learned to be "fast," when their mothers took honest pride in the good conduct of their households, and the head of the family lived prudently within his means. The story of Walter Ogilby is simplicity itself. Trusting mainly to the vicissitudes of ordinary domestic life—which are pleasantly described—the author sketches a variety of scenes, never exactly rising to the grandest ideal of humanity, but pure and good, and drawn from models which exist in nature. The men and women are compounds of wisdom and folly, warmed and cooled by the same Summer and Winter as common people, and actuated by the same passions and feelings, and they have not only a human but a national character, which is cleverly hit off in their modes of speech, and is of considerable advantage in completing the picture. The country people are mostly life-like and forcible, often coarse, but never vulgar, and are, too, so quiet and good without being altogether common-place, that each chapter leaves a pleasant impression of a day passed among simple and happy yeomanry. One dark cloud must needs, of course, intrude to cast a shadow over the otherwise sunny life of the heroine, and complications and misunderstandings that result from vanity and selfishness disturb for a time the course of true love, which had else run too smoothly. The book deserves a fair share of success, which we trust will be accorded, not only for its own intrinsic merits, but in order to show that success is attainable without pandering to the current taste for sensationalism.

THE EARTH'S HISTORY; Or, First Lessons in Geology. By D. T. ANSTED, M. A., F. R. S., &c.

This is a small and convenient manual intended for the use of schools and students, but which is also a useful book of reference for the outlines of geological science. The account is brought up to the present time, and, so far as the limits assigned would allow, it is a complete epitome of Descriptive Geology. It may be regarded as a companion to The World We Live In, the author's treatise, of similar scope, on Physical Geography, and, like that, will probably make its way into general use.

MAGAZINES.

—The October Lippincott affords some fresh and pleasant reading. ANTHONY TROLLOPE's racy and idiomatic English is as attractive as ever in "The Vicar of Bullhampton;" "Beyond the Breakers" runs into a tenth chapter; "Magdalena" is concluded, and Mr. EDGAR FAWCETT has some pretty but rather painful verses. It is rather odd that the alliteration about dining and dying should also occur (page 362) in Mr. TROLLOPE's present installment of his novel, which, of course, was an accident, although no harm would have been done had it been otherwise. There are other papers of moment in this number, including "The Democratic Movement in France," "What I Saw of the Suez Canal," and "The Freedman and His Future."

—Putnam's, like Lippincott's, reaches us a day or two later than the Atlantic and the Galaxy, but it makes a very good appearance when it does come. Mr. PUTNAM gives more interest and vivacity to his columns than do many of his contributors, and Mrs. HAWTHORNE's article, "Old Boston and St. Botolph's," is graphically and unobtrusively written. There are contributions of interest from Mr. TUCKERMAN, Professor COPPEE and others, and the miscellaneous writing at the end does credit to Mr. BAYARD TAYLOR, Mr. R. H. STODDARD, and the other practical hands that furnish it. Mr. PUTNAM is evidently determined to keep up the reputation of his magazine, and we wish him abundant encouragement in doing so.

—The Quarterly Journal of Psychological Medicine is a work whose interest and utility are not confined to medical men, but which usually contains articles attractive and valuable to all brain laborers in general, as well as to those in particular who are interested in social science or the various ameliorative processes of modern civilization. The Journal is edited with care and with manifest reference to a popular circulation, in addition to a strictly professional one. The new number for October contains: I. "Hereditary Diseases of the Nervous System, Unattended by Mental Aberration," by STEPHEN ROGERS, M. D.; II. "Trance and Catalepsy," by T. EDWARDS CLARK, M. D.; III. "Progressive Locomotor Ataxy, and its Treatment by General Electrization," by A. D. ROCKWELL, M. D.; IV. "Methomania," by J. O'DEA, M. D.; V. "The Identity of Human Remains," by BREWER MATTOCKS, M. D.; VI. "Comparative Physiology of Ambition," by M. L. EDGEWORTH; VII. "Influence of the Imagination on Health and Disease," by J. S. WIGHT, M. D.; together with a variety of miscellaneous matter, and the usual quarterly chronicle of cases coming under the head of "Physiology and Pathology of the Brain and Nervous System."

KOOPMANSCHAP.

His Return to the Metropolis—Intentions Regarding the Future.

Mr. C. KOOPMANSCHAP, of San Francisco, is now in this City making arrangements for bringing to this country, in 1870, a supply of Chinese laborers. After visiting the West he will leave, on Nov. 4, for China, to return in the Spring of 1870, bringing with him as many Celestials as he may have contracted for. These laborers will not be coolies, as Mr. KOOPMANSCHAP disavows any idea of being connected with the coolie trade, but voluntary immigrants who agree to the terms offered by him and who come hither with the full knowledge and consent of the Chinese authorities for the purpose of bettering their pecuniary condition. A contract has already been closed with the Texas Land Company, of which Mr. P. N. SPOFFORD, of the firm of SPOFFORD, TILESTON & Co., of this City, is the President, for supplying 5,000 Chinamen to work on the lands owned by the Company in Texas. Another contract has been made with a leading landowner in Mississippi to supply several hundred laborers for that State. The price paid for coolie labor is about $4 per month, whereas Mr. KOOPMANSCHAP's Chinamen are to receive an average of $10 per month and found; and hands employed to work on railroads will get $15 per month and found. Mr. KOOKMANSCHAP goes to Washington to-day to explain his project to the Federal authorities, and to correct the impression entertained by some that he designs to import coolies or others who are not free, voluntary immigrants. He avows that his only desire is to provide the means and found a system whereby a much-needed supply of laborers may be furnished for tilling the now waste lands of the South, and for meeting the demand for labor that exists on all the lines of railroad projected and building in the West. From Washington Mr. KOOPMANSCHAP goes to St. Louis, Memphis and New-Orleans, where he expects to enter into further contracts. He has already supplied the Central Pacific and other railroads with Chinese laborers to the number of about 30,000, and holds certificates from the officers of these companies showing that they have given ample satisfaction to their employers. On his return from China Mr. KOOPMANSCHAP will bring hither about 5,000 Orientals as his first contribution to the labor supply market.

BURGLARS.

A Bold and Successful Burglary in Leonard-street.

On Sunday afternooon a resident of the Fifth Ward noticed a carriage drive up to the store of GUITERMAN BROS., at No. 63 Leonard-street, and three men came from the store with several bags, which they threw into the carriage, and after locking the store door disappeared. The citizen followed the carriage through several streets to Broadway, where it disappeared. He then followed two of the men, who had abandoned the carriage, and notified Officer BANKER, of the Fifth Precinct, who gave chase and succeeded, after a desperate struggle, in arresting one of the burglars, who gave his name as GEORGE ALLEN. Subsequent examination of the store resulted in the discovery that 110 pieces of silk and six Broché shawls, valued at $4,728, had been stolen. The thieves had also entered the premises of SMITH & BEAN, on the third floor, whence they stole $800 worth of children's clothing. No other arrests have as yet been made, and ALLEN remains in the custody of the Police, by consent of Justice HOGAN, to await further developments.

Juvenile Female Burglars—A Series of Offences.

Detective MCKEEVER, of the Fourteenth Precinct, arrested MARY ANN BURNS, aged 13, and ELLEN DICKSON, aged 10, yesterday, on a charge of having broken open the hall window of premises No. 123 Mulberry-street, occupied by JOHN O'CONNOR, and stealing therefrom $25 worth of wearing apparel. As the pawn tickets for the stolen property were found in their possession, Justice HOGAN held them for trial, designating their offence as larceny, in consequence of the tender age of the accused. The detective found in their possession eighty-three pawn-tickets representing over $200 worth of stolen property, for which owners are sought.

Burglary in Broadway.

CHARLES GORDON, JAMES BELL and WM. T. JENNINGS, Jr., were arraigned before Justice HOGAN, yesterday, at the Tombs, on a charge of having on the 19th inst. committed a burglary in the basement of No. 233 Broadway, occupied as a jewelry and fancy store by LOUIS B. PIKE, when they carried away twenty-one watches and twenty-four chains, valued at $218. Officer MCGIBNEY and WILLOUGHBY, of the Third Ward, arrested the accused at an unseemly hour and found them in possession of the property, which was subsequently identified by Mr. PIKE. JENNINGS pleaded not guilty to the charge, but GORDON and BELL stated that JENNINGS had induced them to go to the premises to carry away the property, and that they were innocent of any participation in the burglary. All three were remanded for trial at General Sessions.

BASE BALL.

Mutuals Against Nationals, of Washington—Defeat of the Latter.

Yesterday afternoon the National Base-Ball Club, of Washington, played their return game with the Mutuals, at the Union Grounds, Brooklyn. The first match between these nines came off in Washington several weeks ago, when the Nationals beat the New-Yorkers by a score of 28 to 26. Yesterday the tables were turned. The game was one-sided and uninteresting, the visitors failing to make any display, either at the bat or in the field. The Mutuals won with ease by a score of 42 to 16.

Below is the summary of the game:

Time of game—2 hours, 30 minutes.

This afternoon the Eckfords play with the Nationals at the Union Grounds.

Abating a Nuisance by the Use of a Pistol.

WILLIAM DALY has for some time been in the habit of returning to his home at No. 29 Frankfort-street, at a late hour of the night, intoxicated. He has also amused himself by knocking at the doors of the other occupants, thereby annoying them very much. WM. MCBRIDE, one of the inmates, often threatened vengeance on this nocturnal disturber of his peace, and when DALY returned home early yesterday morning and began making a noise, MCBRIDE opened his door and shot him in the head. MCBRIDE was arrested, and Justice HOGAN held him to await the result of the wound sustained by DALY, who is now in the Hospital.

JEROME PARK AND RACE COURSE.

Progress of Racing—Brilliant Prospects for the Fall Meeting.

The opening of the Race Course and Park which bear Mr. LEONARD JEROME's name, was the beginning of a new epoch in the history of the American turf. In the first place, Mr. JEROME's enterprise and liberality had rendered it possible for ladies to go and see a race, not only without risk of finding themselves disturbed or inconvenienced, but with the certainty of spending an agreeable day. A new out-door pleasure was added to the resources of New-York. There are not too many places in the vicinity of the City to which we can drive with the prospect of finding good entertainment, and Jerome Park at once took the lead of them all. The road to it was not very good before Mr. JEROME took it in hand. Now it presents one of the most charming drives to be found within a very wide range of the City. Health and recreation are nowhere to be obtained on easier terms. From the outset every facility was offered to the public to visit the Park, and at the same time effectual arrangements were made to keep it clear of "rowdyism." The consequence was that at the very first meeting, as we well remember, the stands built for spectators were crowded with ladies representing the best classes of New-York society. The varied colors of their bonnets and dresses added a beauty to the picturesqueness of the scene, which had never been witnessed on a race course in this country before. Something of the same kind was perhaps seen at Saratoga once a year, but the Jerome Park meeting far surpassed any merely provincial gathering, and, as we recorded at the time, there were over 9,000 persons present on the first day, of whom about 2,000 belonged to the gentler and more ornamental sex. The event was unexampled, and attracted general attention far and near. The London Times published a long account of the new course from its correspondent here, and in that the opinion was expressed that Mr. JEROME had for the first time made racing a truly popular and national sport.

Since then the success of these delightful meetings has been constantly increasing. The Park has become more and more attractive, and the excellent Club House, which was only just begun at the time we are referring to—offers to those who have the entrée, every comfort they can desire after a long and healthy drive. Ladies know that the racing days at Jerome Park are the most fashionable outdoor gatherings of the year. The solid advantages of the meeting are meanwhile shown in the really surprising additions made to the entries for all the principal races. For the "Nursery Stakes," to take one example—a race for two-year olds—there were twenty-nine horses entered at the inaugural meeting. For 1870 the entries are seventy. For the Belmont Stakes, next year, there are seventy-six entries, against forty-seven last Spring. Within the last four years the number of horses in training has more than quadrupled. For three of the most important stakes in the racing year—the Belmont, Travers and Champion Stakes—the entries have more than doubled. No more striking proof than this could possibly be afforded of the immense success which has attended Mr. JEROME's experiment. At the time there were people who said it was a rash undertaking, and was predestined to failure. But now they are among the first to acknowledge that Mr. JEROME's foresight was truer than their own.

We anticipate a more brilliant meeting than ever this Fall. The roads have been improved—Fifth-avenue has been repaved, and the Central-avenue, leading through Macomb's Dam, is finished. This route will be crowded with gay equipages on the 6th, 9th, 12th, 14th, and 16th October next—the days appointed for the meeting. The "events" to come off are full of interest. On the first day there is to be a match for $2,500 between Mr. A. BELMONT's ch. f. Finesse, and Messrs. HUNTER & TRAVERS' ch. f. Intrigue—two-year olds. Besides other matches, there is to be a handicap sweepstakes for gentlemen riders. The following gentlemen have already subscribed to this stake: Messrs. Leonard Jerome, De Courcy Forbes, John G. Heckscher, Geo. P. Wetmore, Jas. K. Lawrence, J. G. Beresford and A. Clason.

On the 9th the programme includes a hurdle race, the "Handicap Sweepstakes," for which there are twenty-four entries, and the "American Derby"—the "Champion Stakes." For this there are thirty-eight entries, including some of the finest racing blood the country can boast of. The Nursery Stakes (thirty-four entries) will wind up the day.

On Oct. 12 there will be run for the Jerome Sweepstakes, the Members' Cup, a purse for $500, the Maturity Stakes, and a sweepstakes for foals of 1867, $1,000 entrance. On the 14th the Champagne Stakes, the Grand National Handicap and a purse for $500 will come up for competition. On the last day (Oct. 14) there will be a hurdle race, a sweepstake for two-year olds, another for three-year olds, and two other lively races.

It was decided on Monday to fix an additional race for the first day—namely, a selling sweepstakes for all ages, of $15 each with $300 added.

It will be seen from this brief synopsis of the "correct card," that a very liberal entertainment will be provided for the public on each day of the meeting. All they have to do is to bear the dates in mind and make arrangements beforehand to drive down. Those who prefer the railroad will go by the New-York and Harlem Railway to Fordham. Extra trains will be run at 11:30 and 12 M. The Third-avenue and Fordham horse cars will also take intending visitors to the scene of action.

The meeting will wind up with a brilliant "race ball," under the direction of lady patronesses, whose names are an ample guarantee for the success of the occasion. Altogether, a pleasanter holiday will not be open to the general public this side New-Year's Day than they will shortly have the opportunity of enjoying at Jerome Park.

A Child Accidentally Poisoned in the Foundling Hospital.

An inquest was held yesterday by Coroner KEENAN, at the Foundling Hospital, on Randall's Island, over the body of JOHN GARRETT, aged 18 months, who died from the effects of poison contained in a quantity of eye-water. MARIA MORROW, the nurse in charge of Ward No. 19, where deceased was lying, left the child in the temporary charge of ELLEN FAGAN, and left on the table a quantity of eye-water intended for her own child. The deceased took the bottle from the table and swallowed a portion of the contents before it was known, when Dr. HOWARD administered antidotes, without any success, as the lotion contained nitrate of silver and atrophine. A verdict of accidental death was rendered.

Arrest of River Thieves.

CHARLES MURRAY and MICHAEL SMITH were arrested on Monday, by Officer HANTY, of the Twenty-sixth Precinct, on a charge of having, on the 11th inst., stolen two flags and a quantity of wearing apparel, valued at $48, from the steamboat General McCullom, at Pier No. 1 North River. WINIFRED CODY, the chambermaid, fully identified MURRAY as the man she saw in possession of the plunder, and he was fully committed for trial by Justice HOGAN, SMITH escaping because there was no positive evidence against him.

A Man Killed in the Park.

An unknown man, aged 35, in some way gained access yesterday morning to the grounds soon to be occupied by the new Post Office, when he accidentally stumbled into an excavation and sustained a compound fracture of the skull and other injuries, from the effects of which he died soon after admission to the Duane-street Hospital. Coroner KEENAN will hold an inquest.

A Singular Case of Suffocation.

An inquest was held yesterday by Coroner ROLLINS, at No. 54 Barrow-street, over the body of SAMUEL MILLER, who died suddenly on Sunday soon after dinner, in consequence of a piece of meat lodging in his throat. A verdict of death from asphyxia was recorded.

Fatal Runaway Accident.

Mr. LEON LARMANDE, a native of France, doing business at No. 1,281 Broadway, left his residence, No. 17 East Seventeenth-street, yesterday, in his carriage, in company with his daughter, niece and another young lady, for the purpose of driving through Central Park. On their return home, while Mr. LARMANDE was assisting the ladies to alight, the horse took fright and ran off. He immediately pursued and caught the animal by the head, which checked his speed, and crushed the carriage, Mr. LARMANDE being crushed by its weight, and sustaining a fracture of the skull and other injuries. Death ensued a few minutes after. Coroner ROLLINS held an inquest and obtained a verdict of accidental death.

Board of Police Commissioners.

The Board held a meeting yesterday afternoon. The resignation of Sergeant JOHN L. VOSBURGH, of the Thirty-second Precinct, to take effect on Oct. 1, was received and accepted. Patrolman W. B. SMINCK, of the Twenty-seventh Precinct, was promoted to be roundsman, and assigned to the Seventh Precinct. A communication was received from Messrs. LORD & TAYLOR, and other prominent merchants and citizens of the Tenth Precinct, requesting permission to present to Captain THADDEUS C. DAVIS (for many years in command of the Police of the Tenth Precinct, and lately transferred to the Thirtieth) a horse and wagon, as an acknowledgment of his many years of service in the Tenth Ward. Permission was granted. ROBERT J. BROWN was appointed a clerk in Fire Marshal BRACKETT's office, to fill the vacancy occasioned by the resignation of CLINTON G. OSGOOD.

A False Check Operator Arrested.

AUGUST SCHNEIDER, alias August Miller, alias Louis Miller, was arrested yesterday by Detective DUNN, of the Sixth Precinct, on a charge of having passed a false check for $35 on the Bull's Head Bank, on EMMA GLOSSIND, No. 37 Centre-street, from whom he purchased some birds and received some change. When the case came before Justice HOGAN, at the Tombs, the complainant stated that she had lost the check, so the prisoner was remanded in order that the Police might be enabled to procure other evidence against him. It appears that SCHNEIDER has been at work in this check business for some time, and Captain JOURDAN desires that any other victims will call at the Franklin-street Police Station to identify and give evidence against him. He is a man fully six feet in height, of herculean build, wears a mustache, and has a bad expression about the eyes.

Ordination at the Paulist Church, Fifty-ninth-Street.

Right Rev. Dr. LYNCH, Bishop of Charleston, will ordain Rev. HENRY S. LAKE, now a deacon, to the priesthood, to-morrow (Thursday) at 8 o'clock A. M., in the Church of the Paulist Fathers, corner of Fifty-ninth-street and Ninth-avenue, and not on Friday, as has been announced. Mr. LAKE is the son of GEORGE LAKE, Esq., of the well-known firm of LAKE & MCCREERY, and a convert to the Catholic faith. On the same occasion several other postulants of the Paulist Order will receive Tonsure and Minor orders, one of whom, we learn, is Mr. GEORGE M. SEARLE, formerly the Professor of Mathematics in the Naval School at Newport.

Upper Broadway to be Widened.

The Central Park Commissioners, acting under the authority of a special law of the last Legislature, have defined the lines and filed the maps for the widening of Broadway from Thirty-second-street to Fifty-ninth-street. It is intended that this new improvement shall be 100 feet wide, thus affording a spacious drive for all who desire to visit the Park and giving ample accommodations for entering through its southwestern angle, where are the Artists', the Artisans' and the Merchants' gates.

Serious Accident to Engineer Bates.

At 2:30 P. M. yesterday, District Engineer ELI BATES, of the Metropolitan Fire Department, fell from the roof of the fuel depot of the Department, at No. 82 Attorney-street, and striking on his left side, received injuries that, it is feared, will terminate fatally. Engineer BATES is one of the most valued officers in the Fire Department. He served for many years in the old Volunteer Department, rising to the rank of Assistant Engineer.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT—SOUTHERN DISTRICT.

Before Judge Blatchford.

BANKRUPTCY—APPEARANCE—ASSIGNMENT.

In the matter of Isaac Ulrich et al., Bankrupts.—In this case the assignee in bankruptcy presented a petition praying the Court to adjudge void an assignment made by the bankrupts two months and sixteen days before the adjudication in bankruptcy to one Kaufman, and a transfer of property made at the same time to Steiner & Brother of certain property with intent to give preference to such creditors. An order was made by the Court on a petition directing Kaufman and Steiner & Brother to show cause why the prayer of the petition should not be granted. The order was personally served at Peoria, Ill., and on the return day, July 15, 1869, they appeared by separate attorneys, who put on file written notices of appearance for them. On July 29 an answer was put in in behalf of Steiner & Brother, and on the same day the attorney who had appeared for Kaufman filed in the Clerk's office a paper signed by him, as follows: "I hereby withdraw my appearance in behalf of Gustav Kaufman in the above entitled matter, the same having been made by mistake." No answer was put in for Kaufman. Application was now made for an order, as prayed in the petition.

Held by the Court—That under the first section of the Bankruptcy act, the Court has jurisdiction to adjudicate in regard to the matters set up in the petition, provided it obtains jurisdiction of the parties. That the appearance of the parties on the return day was effective to confer jurisdiction, whether the service of the order on them in Illinois would have conferred it or not. That such appearance once entered could not be withdrawn without the consent of the Court or the prosecuting party, and the notice of withdrawal was of no avail; that as Kaufman had not answered, the petitioner was entitled to a decree against him for the relief prayed for; that Steiner & Brother had, by their appearance and answer, waived all objection to the proceeding by petition; that as to the issue raised by their answer, a reference must be had to take testimony.

For the Assignee, A. R. Dyett and B. C. Thayer.

For Kaufman, J. B. Bullock.

For Steiner & Brother, Kaufman, Frank & Wilcoxson.

MORTGAGE—REMOVAL OF PROPERTY.

In the matter of Isaac M. Rosenberg, a bankrupt.—This was a petition by the assignee in bankruptcy for a decree declaring void a chattel mortgage executed by the bankrupt to a Mrs. Gilbert on Dec. 17, 1868. She had loaned to him $250 in October, 1868, and on Dec. 17 loaned him $1,000 more, and the mortgage was given to secure both sums, and was made payable on demand, and was duly filed. The bankrupt filed his petition on Dec. 24, 1868, and the assignee was appointed Feb. 3, 1869. On Feb. 5, 1869, Mrs. Gilbert demanded the money of the bankrupt, and on Feb. 8 she assigned the mortgage to Joseph L. Salomon, who paid her $1,250 for it. Salomon afterward obtained possession of the property, and what became of it did not appear. Salomon and Mrs. Gilbert answered the petition and proofs were taken.

Held by the Court—That the evidence does not show that the mortgage to Mrs. Gilbert was not made in good faith as far as concerned the $1,000 loaned at the time. Nor does it show as to the $250, that Mrs. Gilbert had reasonable cause to believe when she received the mortgage that it was made in fraud of the Bankruptcy act. That the mortgage must therefore stand as a valid security for the whole amount. But that the property passed to the assignee in bankruptcy, and the taking of it by Salomon was unlawful, and its value must be accounted for to the assignee, as of the time when it was taken. Decree accordingly.

For the assignee, T. Burwell; for defendants, M. J. Friedlander.

SUPREME COURT—SPECIAL TERM—SEPT. 22.

Before Justice Clerke.

THE CHRISTY CASE AGAIN.

Breck vs. Smith.—This case, which seems interminable in its issues, was again up for argument before Judge CLERKE. On the 25th of August last, on the issue tried before Judge Barnard, and already reported in the TIMES, a decision was rendered dismissing the complaint. On that judgment motion is now made that the decision be set aside on the following grounds: That after the cause had been concluded and submitted, an argument by Judge Porter was handed in as a part of the record, which, it was claimed by the plaintiff, had a large share in influencing the decision of the Judge. It was also claimed on behalf of the plaintiff that the suit being based to a great extent on the claim of Judge Jones to a counsel fee, and he (Judge Jones) being brother-in-law to Judge Barnard, that fact disqualified Judge Barnard from acting in the case.

A motion was also made for an order directing that the printing of the case on appeal be paid out of the public funds, on the ground that the plaintiff is unable to bear the expense. The motion was resisted on the ground that Judge Porter was actually retained in the case, and actually present during a portion of the trial, and that the argument was handed in in obedience to the directions of the Judge that points might be handed in at any time before judgment. In reference to the application to have the case printed, it was claimed that according to plaintiff's pleadings, she had received moneys from the estate sufficient to enable her to bear the expense.

Judge CLERKE took the papers and reserved his decision.

Mr. Huntington for motion; Ex-Judge Emott opposing.

TUESDAY, Sept. 21—P. M.

The sales of Gold, which left off last night at 137½ ₱ cent., were advanced by the Bull combination in the Gold Room to 137¾@137⅞ ₱ cent. The price fell back to 137½ ₱ cent. at the close of regular Bank hours. The Cash Gold continued easy, and the party speculating for the rise—and for a corner in their own good season—paid from 7 to 12 ₱ cent. per annum interest to carry over their balances. The peculiar situation of the Gold market—liable at any time to a turn of the screw on the Cash Gold—continues to depress the already demoralized Foreign Exchanges, and to-day Merchant bills on England of first-rate credit, drawn against the Exports of Domestic Produce, and with shipping documents attached as collateral security, were sold at 106 ₱ cent., and Bankers' bills at 107½@107⅝ ₱ cent. This condition of things is greatly to be deplored outside of Wall-street. It affects seriously the business of the Produce Exchange, where large Export orders for Flour, Grain, Provisions, Petroleum, &c., are held in abeyance on account of the difficulty of negotiating Exchange. We explained in our report of yesterday why these orders could not be filled, and we have only to add to-day that the difficulty of negotiating Exchange has increased, and will probably continue to increase until the combination in Gold is broken down, either by its importation from the other side or by some sort of action of the Treasury which will place at the command of the Bankers engaged in the conduct of the Foreign Exchanges and the Importers who have large daily Customs to provide for, a free supply of Gold which speculation cannot lock up or control. The mode of relief it is not our province to suggest. With the surplus Gold in hand to the extent of eighty millions of dollars, and an additional weekly increase at all the ports of four or five millions, from Customs, the Secretary of the Treasury need be at no loss to devise the means of directly turning part of this surplus into extra purchases of United States 5-20s, since it is not desirable that it should be sold in the market for Currency to be locked up from the use of business.

The Money market tends to stringency. The demand from the Brokers to-day was quite general, and in some instances of a pressing nature, at 7 ₱ cent. Gold Interest, with some favorable exceptions at 7 ₱ cent. Currency Interest, and the whole Stock Exchange, from the Public Funds to the Railway Stocks, felt the pressure. The volume of business in the Public Funds was comparatively light, and of the Railways less than yesterday, but the prevailing temper at the close of the day was one of discouragement in regard to the future of speculation in the Western Roads. The New-York Vanderbilt Roads are considered relatively more hopeful, because of the meeting advertised to be held at Albany to-morrow looking to the consolidation of Central and Hudson, but this feeling is really the only anchor to the general market, and it seems questionable whether the improvement from the expected Consolidation has not, in a measure, been anticipated, or, to use a Street phrase, discounted. This afternoon, after the late Board, the market for all the Railways was reported heavy, and the Western Roads especially depressed on Lake Shore, the Northwests and the St. Pauls. Pacific Mail stock was fairly supported at the improvement of yesterday—at one time it sold up to 78@78¼ ₱ cent. The Southern State Bonds were steady.

We do not know whether the Brokers who advertise to pay a premium for Fractional Currency and small notes, Greenback and National, of and under the denomination of Ten dollars, expect to make most profit out of their purchases directly, or through the effect of the movement upon the money market. We are willing to believe that the latter has nothing to do with it. But we are glad to know that the operation cannot last long, and that the public inconvenience growing out of the scarcity of Fractional Currency is susceptible of very early and effectual removal, and that the substitution of small Greenbacks for the Ten and Fifty-dollar Notes recently withdrawn, because of counterfeited old plates, is now going on at Washington. On the 1st of September, (inst.,) the Secretary had authority to issue additional Fractional Currency to the amount of $19,288,200—the total then outstanding, at that time, being $30,711,800—while the Act of Congress authorizes a maximum of $50,000,000. The whole will be filled up, if needed, to remove all inconvenience or complaints of scarcity, and in a good measure of Fifty-cent pieces, if the want of One and two-dollar Greenbacks is not otherwise answered.

At the close of business the following quotations were made as compared with Monday night. The Railways depressed; Pacific Mail fell back to 75¾ ₱ cent.:

The following is the amount of earnings of the Pacific Railroad of Missouri for the first week in September, 1869:

From freight, (gross)	$42,539 75
From passengers, (gross)	23,676 09
Total	$66,215 84

The Hartford Times, of Sept. 20, says:

"The Rockville failure, which we noticed on Friday, proves to be the Glasgow Thread Company, of which Mr. CLARK HOLT is proprietor. The amount of liabilities has not been ascertained, but are said to be quite heavy. Only two Hartford banks have any of the paper afloat, and these but a small amount. The remainder is held out of town, the largest being by New-York parties."

The week's exports of domestic produce have been to the currency value of $3,752,261.

COCOA—Small lots of Guayaquil have been disposed of at 18c., currency, ⅌ lb.

DRY GOODS—Business progresses satisfactorily in most branches. Seasonable fabrics find a ready market at generally rather stronger prices, especially in the line of foreign dress goods, which are readily taken both at private and at public sale at buoyant rates. Domestic Cottons show some irregularity in value, influenced in part by the recent severe decline in the raw material. Domestic Woolens are without remarkable variation. At the auctions thus far this week the attendance has been full, the bidding animated, and the general result encouraging to the sellers.

FEATHERS—Have been sparingly sought after, at from 82½c.@90c. for Live Geese, ⅌ lb.

FISH—There has been a rather livelier movement in the leading articles at our revised quotations: Dry Cod at $7 25@$7 75 ⅌ cwt.; No. 1 Mackerel, $22 50@$28 50; No. 2 do., $11 50@$12; No. 3 do., $8@$12 ⅌ bbl.; Pickled Herring, $5@$7 50 ⅌ bbl.; Smoked Herring, $48@$50 for Scale, and $36@$38 for No. 1, ⅌ box.

FLOUR AND MEAL—State and Western Flour has been more active, but generally a shade easier in price, under free offerings of most descriptions. Sales have been reported, since our last, of 13,850 bbls., in lots, including poor to choice Superfine State and Western at $5 85@$6 15; very inferior to good Extra State at $6 20@$6 50; good to choice genuine Spring Wheat Extra State at $6 50@$7; and poor to good shipping brands of Round-hoop Extra Ohio at $6 20@$6 50 ⅌ bbl. Of the sales 6,500 bbls. were Extras for export, including Western at $5 25@$6 70, chiefly at $6 25@$6 40, and State at $6 25@$6 50, chiefly at $6 35@$6 50 ⅌ bbl. We quote:

Superfine State and Western	$5 85@$6 15
Extra State	6 20@ 7 00
Extra Illinois, Indiana, &c.	6 10@ 7 75
Extra Ohio, round-hoop, shipping brands	6 20@ 6 50
Extra Ohio, trade and family brands	6 50@ 7 85
Extra Genesee	7 00@ 7 75
Common to Fancy to Extra Missouri	6 10@10 25

Southern Flour has been moderately inquired for at yielding prices. Sales have been reported of 550 bbls., in lots, at $6 50@$7 for very poor to fair Ordinary, and $7 10@$10 85 for fair Ordinary to very Choice Extra, ⅌ bbl. California Flour continues in limited request at $6 50@$9 50 for Extra ⅌ 196 lbs.; sales of 425 bbls. and sacks. Rye Flour has been in better supply and in moderate demand at $4 30@$6 25 for very inferior to choice, ⅌ bbl.; sales 480 bbls. Cornmeal is quiet at $5@$5 50 for Western; $5 25@$5 50 for Jersey, and $5 25@$5 35 for Baltimore and Brandywine, ⅌ bbl.; sales 185 bbls.

FRUIT—The demand has been more active for the principal articles at uniform quotations. Layer Raisins at $3 30@$3 40 ⅌ box; Currants at 10¼c.@12¼c.; Almonds, 13c.@27½c.; Figs, 13c.@16c.; Turkish Prunes at 10½c.@11c.; Brazil Nuts, 14c.@14½c. ⅌ lb.

GRAIN—Wheat has been in less liberal supply, and desirable lots, particularly of Winter, have been in very good request, chiefly for export, though partly on speculative account and for milling, at rather stronger prices. Sales have been reported since our last of 185,000 bushels, including White Western at $1 60@$1 70; Red and Amber do., unsound to choice, at $1 42@$1 54, chiefly prime Amber at $1 53; No. 1 Spring, small lots, at $1 54@$1 55; No. 2 Spring at $1 45@$1 49, chiefly at $1 48 for fair; No. 3 Spring at $1 35; White State at $1 65@$1 70; Red and Amber State at $1 50@$1 53; White Southern at $1 63@$1 68; Red and Amber Southern at $1 55@$1 56, and White California at $1 70@$1 73 ⅌ bushel, closing rather buoyantly. Corn has been abundant, and though fairly active, has been quoted lower. Sales have been reported since our last of 86,500 bushels at 97c.@$1 06½ for damaged and heated New Mixed Western; $1 07@$1 12 for poor to very choice Mixed Western; $1 12@$1 14 for White and Yellow Western, ⅌ bushel. Rye has been lightly dealt in at from $1 18@$1 22 ⅌ bushel. Nothing new in Barley. Of Barley Malt, further small sales were made at buoyant prices. Oats have been more active, and have advanced, closing in favor of sellers. Sales have been reported, since our last, of 110,000 bushels at 61c.@66c. for inferior Black to very choice White, closing at 65c.@66c. for the best, ⅌ bushel. The export clearances were 1,941 bbls. Flour and 15,486 bushels Wheat for Liverpool; 22,266 bushels Wheat for Cardiff; 13,175 bushels Wheat for Cork and orders, and 17,800 bushels Wheat for Hamburg. The Albany Argus says:

"The boats which passed Fultonville between noon on Saturday and noon on Monday covered 55 loads of Lumber, 23 of Wheat, 4 of Coal, 3 of Salt, and 1 each of Corn, Barley, Oil, Flour and Malt.

GUNNY BAGS AND BAGGING—Have been very quiet since our last, at essentially unaltered rates. Bags, 16c.@17½c. each; Bagging, 23c.@23½c. ⅌ yard.

HAY—Bale Hay has been in good demand at 85c.@90c. for shipping, and 75c.@$1 15 for local use ⅌ 100 lbs. Straw is in request at 85c.@90c. for Short and Long, ⅌ 100 lbs.

HEMP—The dealings in Manila, in addition to those already reported by us, are equal to about 8,300 bales, making the aggregate business, within the past week or ten days, 22,000 bales, at from 12¼c.@13½c., now held at 14c., gold, ⅌ lb. In other kinds, no important transactions have been made public. We quote: American at $205@$215 for undressed, and $270@$315 for dressed ⅌ ton; Jute at 4c.@5c., gold, ⅌ lb.; Manilla, 13½c.@14c., gold; Sisal, 9¼c.@10c., gold, ⅌ lb.

HIDES—A quiet market has been noted for all kinds, without any remarkable changes in prices. Sales 1,000 Orinocos at 20½c., gold, and 1,700 Entre Rios at 21¼c.@21¾c., gold, ⅌ lb.

HOPS—Have attracted rather more attention, including New-York State, new, 15c.@20c.; Eastern, new, 12c.@17c.; Ohio, new, 12c.@15c.; Yearlings, 4c.@6c.; Old Olds, 1c.@2c. ⅌ lb. Receipts, 123 bales; exports, 747 bales.

Receipts to-day, 7,777 sides.

LIME—Rockland has been in demand at full rates.

LUMBER—Has been in fair request at unchanged quotations.

METALS—Ingot Copper has been in light demand, though available, at 22¼c. ⅌ lb. Pig Iron has been weak in price, with freer offerings, particularly of Scotch Pig. An arrival of 800 tons Glengarnock Scotch Pig has been on the market at $38 ⅌ ton; some 200 tons have been sold, ex-ship, at this rate; also 200 tons Eglinton, on private terms. Of American, sales were reported of 500 tons No. 1 Crane at $40, and 300 tons No. 2 at $38 ⅌ ton. Of old Rails there were 200 tons Double Headed placed at $40 ⅌ ton, showing a steady market. Sheet Iron has been very quiet at about previous figures. Lead, Spelter and Zinc have been inactive. A moderate business has been reported in Plate Tin, sales having transpired of 1,500 boxes assorted Charcoal on private terms; 1,200 boxes inferior Coke at $6 25, gold; and 300 boxes Charcoal Terne at $7 87, gold, ⅌ box. Pig Tin has been slow of sale, the high prices claimed by holders checking operations. Straits could be bought at 32¼c., gold, ⅌ lb., but buyers were not disposed to operate on this basis. We quote: Ingot Copper at 22c.@22¼c. ⅌ lb.; No. 1 American Pig Iron, $40; No. 2 do., $38; American Forge, $36; Scotch Pig, $37 50@$42 50; English and American Bar Iron, Refined, $82 50@$87 50 ⅌ ton. [Whalemen's Shipping List.

PETROLEUM—Business has been generally on a restricted scale to-day. A less urgent call has been noted for Crude at 16¼c.@17c., chiefly at 16¾c., in bulk, at which some 1,800 bbls. were placed; and 23c. in barrels, with light sales reported. At Philadelphia about 1,250 bbls. Crude, in shipping order, were reported sold at 22¼c. ⅌ gallon. At Pittsburg, yesterday, the dealings in Crude, in bulk, were light, on the basis of 15c., seller, 30 days; 14¾c., on the spot; 14½c., seller September; and 14¼c., seller all the year, ⅌ gallon; also $5 80@$5 85 ⅌ bbl. on the cars at Venango. No receipts of Crude were reported here; 775 bbls. arrived at Philadelphia. Refined Oil has been dull and weak. Exporters have been prevented from operating freely by the extreme depression in foreign exchange, and the firmness in freights. Holders have been more eager to sell. Sales have been reported here of only 250 bbls. Standard White, on the spot, at 32c., 2,750 bbls do., for September delivery, mainly at 32¼c.; and 500 bbls. do., early October delivery, at 32½c. ⅌ gallon. Also, at Philadelphia, 1,500 bbls. Standard White, for September delivery, at 32¼c.; and 1,500 bbls. do., October to December delivery, at 32½c. ⅌ gallon. And at Pittsburg, yesterday, Refined was sold to a moderate extent at 32¼c. for October; 32¼c. for September to December, and October to January; and 32½c. for October to December, ⅌ gallon. The receipts of Refined here were 6,295 bbls.; at Philadelphia, 3,380 bbls. No exports. Standard White, in cases, has been in limited request at from 36½c.@38c., with sales of 1,100 cases, and Prime White at 38c.@39½c. ⅌ gallon. Naphtha is in less demand at 10½c.@11c., in bbls., and 16c.@18½c. in cases, ⅌ gallon. Receipts, 677 bbls. The quotations for empty Barrels for Crude Oil were $2 40@$2 45, and for Refined $2 50@$2 60 each. Sales 250 bbls. at $2 50 each.

PROVISIONS—Pork has been in much better demand for trade purposes at decidedly firmer and buoyant prices. Sales have been reported, since our last, of 2,850 bbls., in lots, at $31 37@$31 75, closing at about $31 75 for Western Mess; $29 50@$30 50 for Prime Mess, and $26 75@$27 50 for Prime and Extra Prime ⅌ bbl. Cutmeats are scarce and inactive; sales have been reported of 166 packages at 14¾c.@15¼c. for Dry-salted and Sweet-pickled Shoulders, 17c.@19c. for Dry-salted and Sweet-pickled Hams, and 20c.@22c. for Bagged Hams ⅌ lb. Bacon has been in better request at rather firmer rates; sales, 178 boxes Ice-cured, various cuts, at 16½c.@17c. ⅌ lb. Lard continues quiet and weak; sales have been reported since our last of 400 tierces and bbls. at 16½c.@19¼c. for No. 1 to Choice Kettle-rendered, chiefly at 18c.@18½c. for City, and 18½c.@18¾c. for Good to Prime Steam, ⅌ lb. Also 250 tierces Prime Steam, seller September, on private terms ⅌ lb. Beef has been in moderate request at from $8 50@$12 50 for Plain Mess; $12 50@$17 for Extra Mess, and $3 50@$5 50 for inferior grades of barreled Mess Beef; sales 210 bbls. Tierce Beef is in some request; 100 tierces sold on private terms. Beef Hams are in request at $25@$30 ⅌ bbl.; sales 140 bbls. in lots. Butter has been less sought after, including State, common to very good, 24c.@48c.; Prime to Fancy, 45c.@52½c., and Western, inferior to prime, 18c.@33c. The receipts to-day were 1,241 packages. Cheese is in rather more demand, especially fine factories, which are scarce. We quote from 7c.@16¼c. as the extreme, ⅌ lb.; the receipts of the day were 4,700 boxes.

RICE—Has been in light demand, including Carolina, $8@$9 for old, and $9 12@$9 50 for new, the latter to arrive; Rangoon, $7 25@$7 75 ⅌ 100 lbs.

SALT—Has been in fair request at uniform rates.

SEEDS—Calcutta Linseed has been quoted up to $2 17½, gold, ⅌ bushel, but has been inactive. In other kinds nothing new can be noticed.

SKINS—Have been in rather less request, including Honduras Deer, 40c.@43c.; San Juan, 38c.@40c.; Bolivar, 31c.; Sisal, 43c.@45c.; Vera Cruz, 42c.@44c.; Chagres, 43c.@46c.; Porto Cabello, 35c.@36c.; Para, 45c., gold, ⅌ lb.; Southern and Texas, 35c.@40c., currency, ⅌ lb. Tampico Goat, 57½c.; Matamoras, 50c.@55c.; Vera Cruz, 50c.@52½c., gold, ⅌ lb.; Buenos Ayres, 47½c.@52½c.; Payta, 50c.; Curacoa, 50c.@52c.; Cape, 45c.@50c.; Madras, each, 60c.@70c.; Patna, each, 45c.@50c., currency, ⅌ lb.

SOAP—There has been more inquiry noted; sales, 150 boxes Castile and 700 boxes Colgate at steady rates—Castile at 13c.@13½c.; Colgate's Pale, 9½c.; Family, 10c., and No. 1 at 7½c. ⅌ lb.

SPICES—Have been in moderate request within our former range.

SUGARS—Have been very firm, but rather less active. Sales, 465 hhds. Cuba, &c., at from 12c.@15¼c., and 3,471 boxes Havana at from 12¼c.@13½c. ⅌ lb. Refined Sugars have been quite active at from 15c.@17½c. Messrs. R. L. & A. STUART now quote their Refined Sugars thus: Best Crushed Sugar, 17½c.; Ground Sugar, 17¼c.; White Sugar, A, 16¼c.; Yellow Sugar, C, 15¼c., cash, ⅌ lb.

TALLOW—Sales have been reported of 67,000 lbs. Tallow at 11½c.@12c., and small lots of Choice in bbls. at 12¼c.; also 48,000 lbs. Stearine at 18¾c.@20¼c., and 87,000 lbs. Grease at 10½c.@13¼c. ⅌ lb.

TEAS—Have been inquired for and quoted steady, including Gunpowder and Imperial at from $1@$1 90; Hyson at from 90c.@$1 65; Young Hyson, 82½c.@$1 70; Uncolored Japan at from 80c.@$1 25; Oolong at from 70c.@$1 60; Souchong and Congou at from 70c.@$1 50 ⅌ lb.

TOBACCO—Kentucky has been in more demand, and 487 hhds. have been sold at 8¼c.@15c. ⅌ lb. Seed Leaf has been quiet but steady; sales 76 cases State at 23c.; 132 cases Connecticut, part 1868 Wrappers, at 55c. ⅌ lb. Of Spanish, the sales embrace 271 bales Yara at 80c.@85c. Quotations unchanged.

WHALEBONE—The week's business in this line, Messrs. TAFT, LEE & Co. sum up thus: "In our circular of the 18th we omitted a sale of 1,500 South Sea at 80c., gold, for export, since which the transactions have been 1,000 lbs. Arctic at 97c., gold, and a resale of 2,000 do. on private terms for export. We quote Arctic, $1, gold; Northwest, 95c., gold; South Sea, 80c.@85c., gold. A vessel has just arrived at New-London from Cumberland Inlet bringing very unfavorable news of the Greenland fisheries. The fishery is probably a failure, which, with fair success, should have yielded 50,000 or 60,000 lbs. The season is reported as the worst ever known. Up to the 10th of August only 20 Whales had been seen. Stock, Sept. 13, 212,000 lbs.; receipts, 5,500 lbs.; total, 18,000 lbs.; sales, 2,500 lbs.; stock at date in first hands, 213,000 lbs.; stock in speculators' hands, 45,000 lbs.; resales, 2,000 lbs. for export."

WHISKY—Has been purchased to the extent of 260 bbls., in lots, at from $1 16@$1 17, nearly all at $1 16, ⅌ gallon, showing a rather firmer market. Receipts, 708 bbls.

FREIGHTS—Have been less active, but very firm, as a rule. For Liverpool, there were taken 150 bales Cotton, by steam, at ½d. ⅌ lb.; 1,500 bbls. Flour, by sail, at 2s. 6d. ⅌ bbl.; 36,500 bushels Wheat at 9¼d.@9½d., chiefly at 9½d., by sail, and 10½d., by steam, ⅌ bushel; 400 boxes Bacon, by steam, at 40s.; and 1,500 boxes Cheese at 40s.@45s. ⅌ ton. For Glasgow, 1,000 bbls. Flour at 3s. ⅌ bbl. For Dublin, a British bark with 5,000 quarters Wheat, and another with 4,500 quarters do. at 7s.; also one with 2,400 quarters do. at 7s. 6d. ⅌ quarter. For Continental ports direct, a British ship with 5,000 bbls. Petroleum at about 6s. ⅌ bbl., and a British bark, with 3,000 bbls. do., from Philadelphia, at 6s. ⅌ bbl. A British ship with 2,000 bales cotton from Savannah at ¾d. ⅌ lb. to Liverpool or Havre, or 9-16d. ⅌ lb. to Bremen.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

EUROPE.

It is reported in Paris that an early convocation of the Senate and Corps Legislatif will soon be called by the Party of the Left.

The Pall Mall Gazette, in reviewing Ex-Minister BROWNE's Chinese policy, says his argument is the opening of new markets to Christian traders; but in fact the difficulties between foreigners and the Chinese are mere questions of interpretation. The truth is, the paper says, privileges were forced from the Chinese which they now seek to evade. Such extortion it regards as a mistake, for the world's trade into China must be regulated by her desire to trade with the world.

Paris papers publish a letter from the preacher monk, Father HYACINTH, to the Father-General of his order at Rome, in which he states that he abandons his convent and will no longer preach at Notre Dame, for the reason, as he alleges, that the doctrines and practices of the Catholic Church are not in conformity with the principles of Christianity. The letter, by the Press, is regarded as a great religious and political event.

The bodies of six murdered persons are reported to have been found near Paris, but as yet the assassins have not been discovered.

The States General was opened at the Hague yesterday by a speech from the Government. The foreign relations of the Kingdom were declared satisfactory. Reforms for the government of the colonies are proposed, and the subject of free emigration to Guiana is to be discussed.

In Sargossa, Spain, Monday, a great popular demonstration was made in honor of Señor CASTELLAR, the popular Republican orator of the Cortes.

La Patrie says the attempt of Prussia to bring Baden into the Northern Confederation is a violation of the Treaty of Prague.

It is said in Paris that the reports from Brazilian sources represent the defeat of LOPEZ in Paraguay as a complete rout, but La Patrie says other accounts state that the Paraguayans have suffered a reverse, but that LOPEZ is able to continue the war.

The Pope, in reply to Dr. CUMMING's proposal to attend the Ecumenical Council, refers him to the letter of invitation addressed to Protestants, and says that it is an invitation only to profit, not to discussion, and that there is no room in the Council for the defence of errors already committed. The Times congratulates Dr. CUMMING on the authoritative reply elicited.

Mr. CYRUS REDDING, writing on the Stowe-Byron matter, says the charge made by Mrs. STOWE never existed out of her own brain, and that Lady BYRON always refused to disclose the reason of the separation.

Right Hon. GEO. PATTON, Lord Justice Clerk of Scotland, has mysteriously disappeared in Edinburgh, and it is feared that he has been foully dealt with.

The Dresden Theatre, at Dresden, was reported on fire yesterday, and the dispatch states that the building will probably be totally destroyed. The fire caught during a rehearsal.

CUBA.

A Paris correspondent of the London Times writes that the note of Minister SICKLES is entirely different from the diplomatic policy pursued at Washington, but that his limited experience as a diplomat prevents him from rightly estimating the value and effect of his words. No pretext exists for recognizing the Cubans, it is added, and the writer thinks as General SICKLES has not been confirmed, the Senate will do itself credit in refusing to do so after having made "so bad a first appearance in diplomacy." A Madrid letter to the Standard says that altogether the note is not of an alarming nature, but the reticence of the authorities in keeping secret its contents justifies the recent violent articles.

The Post's special says that Minister SICKLES exceeded his instructions on the Cuban question, and the present excitement in Spain is owing entirely to his injudicious utterances. The Government only desires a settlement of this matter in the most friendly manner.

Madrid papers are reported as still violent against the presumed unfriendliness of America, and some of them urge an immediate declaration of war in case of recognition. The reply to the note of Minister SICKLES is deferred until the return of General PRIM.

The Epoca of Madrid says Minister SICKLES has withdrawn his note, but the report is not credited.

GENERAL.

The New-York Democratic State Convention meets at Syracuse to-day, and also the Republican State Convention of Massachusetts at Worcester. Governor CLAFLIN will probably be renominated in Massachusetts, and in this State the old ticket, it is said, will be given a second trial.

Prince ARTHUR arrived in London, Canada, yesterday afternoon. He was received with great enthusiasm. The city is crowded with visitors to the Provincial Exhibition now open. The Prince, with Sir JOHN YOUNG and Lieutenant-Governor HOWLAND, will visit the exhibition to-day. Prince ARTHUR leaves for Sarnia on Friday.

At the Odd Fellows' meeting in San Francisco on Monday, the Grand officers presented their reports, and the Standing Committees were appointed. The Order is in a most prosperous condition, except in the interior of the Southern States. Yesterday was also mostly taken up with receiving reports. A reception by the citizens was given the delegates last evening at the hall of the Chamber of Commerce.

A Halifax dispatch states that Newfoundland is becoming agitated by the confederation discussion. Both parties are very active, and express confidence in carrying the election. A proposition will soon be made to the Government of Prince Edward Island by Canada to join the confederation, and if the terms are deemed fair and equitable, the House will be dissolved and the question submitted to the people.

The National Convention of Universalists met at Buffalo yesterday. Rev. J. G. BARTHOMER, of Auburn, N. Y., was chosen President. Delegates from twenty-one States and the District of Columbia were in attendance. Various reports were read and routine business transacted. Among the reports was one of great interest, showing the condition of the various educational institutions of the denomination. The Convention will probably continue throughout the week.

Colonel J. W. POWELL, of the famous Powell Exploring Expedition in Colorado, has returned to Chicago, and reports that the part of the country through which he traveled is barren and not susceptible of cultivation. No precious metals were discovered.

It is understood that the Coroner's jury in the case of the railroad collision at Athens, Penn., on Monday, censure the conductor of the way train for disobedience of orders, and the train dispatcher at Towanda for running a fast train so soon after a slow one. The railroad authorities are very reticent in the matter, and refuse to furnish for the Press the verdict or the particulars of the inquest.

The miners' strike at Port Henry, N. Y., still continues, and those engaged in it have committed many acts of violence on peaceable workmen. Danger to life and property is imminent.

The Congregational Church in West Concord, N. H., was destroyed by fire yesterday. Loss, $10,000; insurance, $3,000. The church had just been repaired and the fire is supposed to have been the work of an insane man named SPEAR, from Boston. He has been arrested.

The motion for a new trial in the case of JOSEPH MESSNER, the Rochester wife murderer, has been denied, and he will receive his final sentence from the Court which meets the first Monday of October at Rochester.

Ex-Secretary SEWARD was at Los Angeles yesterday, and met with a most generous reception.

GILBERT C. WALKER was yesterday, at Richmond, installed Provisional Governor of Virginia. There was no public display, but a large crowd of white and colored persons tendered their congratulations.

A serious break in the Erie Canal occurred yesterday at Pool's Brook, near Kirkville. It will take several days to repair damages. Travel was temporarily suspended on the Central Railroad, the water overflowing the track.

LOCAL.

WILLIAM VARLEY, alias "Reddy the Blacksmith," was arraigned in the Court of General Sessions yesterday. Letters were read from LAWRENCE GRAHAM, the complainant in the case, in which he announced that he had fled to Canada, and that he would not appear against the prisoner under any circumstances. The prisoner was subsequently remanded.

The German-American School Association adopted their Constitution and By-laws finally last night, and censured the German Democratic Executive Committee for ignoring the objects of the Association.

The eleventh annual Fair of the New-Jersey State Agricultural Society opened yesterday at the Fair grounds near Waverly. The display is a fine one.

Committees of the Citizens' Association, the Chamber of Commerce and the Produce Exchange are inquiring into the management of the State Canals, and have adopted a resolution inviting all who are interested in the subject to meet them in this City on the 19th of October next.

Three cases of burglary came before Justice HOGAN yesterday at the Tombs. In one two little girls were the culprits, and were found in possession of a large lot of pawn tickets. In another, three men were found in possession of twenty-one watches stolen from a Broadway store. The third is as yet unfinished. Two of the gang who entered a Leonard-street store in open daylight on Sunday and carried off $4,000 worth of silk, have escaped.

Croton and Drought.

If the skies are not burdened as they appear to be with rain, such as will fall in excess of what is usual during the equinoctial storm, the suffering from drought, with which the Atlantic slope is afflicted, will scarcely be exceeded by the last season's drought in England. Over a wide district of country pastures are burnt up; springs (supposed to be unfailing) are dry; streams are low, many of them too low for the industry they helped, and man and beast are suffering for the want of water to drink. Even in Westchester, the county which adjoins New-York, farmers and others are obliged to seek new places for water for cattle, although the district is somewhat famous for its supplies. The Croton which flows through the county is as low, if not lower, than ever known, and ought in its present condition to be gauged in order that the City may know its minimum capacity.

The dam on the Croton which supplies the aqueduct has for the past two Summers been generally not only full but overflowing; now, however, the water has fallen about five feet below the lip of the dam, and can consequently deliver into the aqueduct not much more than the proportion of what the latter can carry, which such diminution in feet bears to the height of the aqueduct, which is about eight feet and five inches. The aqueduct is constructed to bring down sixty million gallons of water per diem, but when the dam overflows, the aqueduct actually delivers about from six to eight millions of gallons in excess of this estimate. The quantity now flowing into the reservoir in Central Park is, perhaps, not much above half of what the aqueduct may bring when subjected to the pressure of a full head at the dam. The reservoir in the Park has fallen fifteen or more feet, its depth when full being about thirty-eight.

It would thus appear that heavy and soaking rains are as necessary for the City as the country, and the autumnal equinox is now looked to with anxiety. If such rains shall not immediately occur, the waste of Croton water will need to be restrained to prevent a short allowance.

The minimum supply which the Croton gives to the dam near Sing Sing was estimated by Mr. JARVIS at about thirty-two millions of gallons, or less than one-half of the power of the aqueduct. Whether the present low condition of all the affluents of the Croton will show that its present flow is under that estimate, ought to be known. Persons who live on the river state that they have not known it to be as low for about thirty years, and this raises the question, What is being done toward supplying the full quantity of between sixty and seventy millions of gallons to which the City has been accustomed?

A storage reservoir is now being built at Boyd's Corners, in Putnam County, as a resort in seasons like the present; but we regret to say, from a recent inspection of the work, that it will not be ready before the season of 1871. The original contractors, who begun the work in 1867, failed, owing debts in the adjoining villages which still remain unpaid, and the work is being conducted by their sureties under serious disadvantages, so far as its progress is concerned. The location of the work being about sixty miles distant from the City, in a lonely region difficult of access, the men leave quite freely, and supplies are not easily obtained. A gang of men is constantly at work on the stream above and below to find sand for the structure, which is scarce. Cement must be hauled about eight miles from Brewster's Station, on the Harlem Railroad; and although the high ridges along the stream have vast quantities of stone deposited, and in place, yet most of that which was conveniently located has been used, and the expense of haulage is now felt. There is no question that the work could have been finished by this time, but although the wall intended to dam up the river will be sixty-four feet above low-water mark, only about twenty-two courses above low water have been laid,—amounting to a little over forty feet in height, and it is intended, after laying one more course of about two feet in elevation, to lay no more for the present season, but confine operations to raising the north end of the wall which has been left open for the convenience of a passageway, up to the common level. We cannot think that this mode of treating the contract comports with the interests which are committed to the charge of the Commissioners, and we urge them to hasten the work so that it may be ready for any drought in the Summer and Fall of next year. When the main dam was being built, the contractors held the water to nearly the level of their wall, in order that they might use the dam, which is several miles in length, to transport the stone found upon its borders. It may be that by means of such an arrangement a supply sufficient—added to what the main dam contains—may be furnished in August or September of next year to give us the requisite quantity.

The area covered by the new reservoir amounts to three hundred and three acres, to which the water is contributed from a watershed of about twenty square miles. It consists of the northwest extremity of the Croton Valley upon its west branch. The Reservoir will be at an elevation of about six hundred feet above tide, and is about twenty-three miles above the main dam. It will be constructed to hold 3,369,206,857 gallons, which quantity will be wholly sufficient to carry us through a season of drought, even if unusually prolonged and severe.

The valley at the place of the reservoir after expanding to about half a mile in width, is suddenly contracted by the range which surrounds it, so that a wall, measured at its maximum elevation of sixty-four feet, of only about eight hundred feet in length is required to inclose this large body of water. The length of the dam will be about seven thousand five hundred feet. The drainage area which supplies the main dam is about three hundred and thirty-eight square miles in extent, embracing nearly the whole of Putnam County and parts of Westchester and Dutchess. The easterly border caps over upon Connecticut. Within this range are seventeen or eighteen eligible locations for storage reservoirs, capable, when used, to supply the vast population which will, in the course of time, inhabit New-York and vicinity; and it would soon be the policy to use first those points which are most likely to be improved soonest by dwellings that must be paid for when condemned, and reserve the wild and distant locations for use at a later period.

The question of the present and future supply of water, and its preservation from impurities, ought to engage the most deliberate attention and care, but as the excellent Board which administers the department is not in favor with the City authorities, its exertions are not allowed full scope. We must, therefore, be thankful to Providence for the uncommon natural advantages which in this respect have been showered upon us, and look for such reform in our Government as will enable us soon to make the best use of this bounteous provision.

Nickel, about whose possible uses we heard so much in the days of the "new pennies," is, it seems, about to prove wonderfully serviceable for electro-plating. Means have been lately found for so depositing it on metallic articles as to make a more lasting and a far cheaper coating than silver, and one quite equal to silver in beauty. The battery process has, indeed, for some years partially deposited nickel; but the new Adams invention, whose results are shown in the Institute Fair, deposits it now to any desired thickness—so attaining the success long aimed at. With so cheap a coating, taking as high a polish as silver, and less liable to tarnish, the uses of electro-plating are likely to spread a hundredfold, and reach all metallic articles of ordinary use. Pennsylvania and Connecticut both contain, we believe, very rich veins of nickel, only partially worked, however, owing to the difficulty of separating the metal from the ore. English nickel can now be bought in this market at $1 25 (gold) per pound, and American nickel at about the same price. However, this new demand for nickel in electro-plating will doubtless encourage the opening of new mines in regions now neglected.

Father Hyacinthe's Revolt.

The revolt of Father HYACINTHE against the authority of the Papal hierarchy, of which the Cable brings us intelligence this morning, is an event which will produce a profound sensation throughout the Church. He is the most eloquent preacher of the Latin Church heard in France since the death of LACORDAIRE. His Conferences at Notre Dame were frequented by all that was most distinguished in Paris, and a larger audience than his voice could reach would be gathered an hour before he was to commence, though his style of discourse was rather more metaphysical than is common with speakers so renowned for eloquence. His defection from the Church will be classed as to the gravity of its consequences, with that of RENAN and of LAMENNAIS. We trust it may not be that, like them, he has exchanged too much faith for too little. Father HYACINTHE is still in the prime of life and in the perfection of his faculties. The necessity of defending his course will doubtless render his name more familiar to the world than it would have been had he pursued the even tenor of his priestly ways.

The step which Father HYACINTHE has taken in asserting the right of private judgment in matters of religion, invites a comparison with the renowned author of Telemachus, whom he resembled in many respects. Like FENELON, he was noted for his devoted piety, for his captivating eloquence, and for his insensibility to the blandishments or the terrors of authority. Like FENELON, too, his opinions have encountered the censures of the Vatican. Here the resemblance appears to end. FENELON repudiated the book and the opinions which had provoked his censure. Father HYACINTHE forsakes the Church rather than forsake his convictions. It remains to be seen whether it was the difference in the temperament of these two men, or of the epochs in which they lived, to which their diversity of action under corresponding exigencies is to be attributed.

A New Mode of Washing Our Streets and Quenching Fires.

The Engineer of the Board of Health will soon (probably to-day) present to that body a plan by which every street throughout the City may be flushed, daily, with water from the Hudson and East Rivers. The report will be accompanied by such details and estimates of the cost as will enable us to thoroughly understand the plan. The work of cleansing is to be accomplished by the use of powerful pumps, located at every street corner, which will be fed by means of street pipes leading from the rivers. Reservoirs will not be needed. Besides being made to serve as a purifier of the pavements the salt water may be used to extinguish fires, which fact would certainly prove to be a great advantage, especially at times when the supply of Croton happens to be scanty. The pattern of pump sought to be employed is the one now in use in London, which is capable of throwing its water easily over the highest church steeple in the city. It is claimed by the projectors that the establishment of these hydrants would entirely do away with the necessity of fire engines, water being plentifully and forcibly supplied by other means. The cost, it is alleged, would be but trifling when compared with the sums continually expended for Croton supplies.

We understand that this report is made by the Engineer at the request of the Board of Health, at the special instigation of Mr. Commissioner STEPHEN SMITH, and we therefore infer that its recommendations are likely to receive a favorable consideration.

"AN ADMIRABLE MONUMENT FOR THE PARK—'The Vanderbilt bronze.' It is too beautiful and grand for the Hudson River Railroad Depot, and the only proper place for it is over an arch at some one of the entrances or over the approach to some conspicuous bridge in our great Park. We don't know what Commodore VANDERBILT thinks about it, but we dare say that he would make the bronze a present to the City on application of the Park Commissioners."—Herald.

That the Vanderbilt bronze would be a desirable ornament for the Central or any other park, there is no question, but there are some difficulties in the way of the Herald's suggestion which are fatal to it.

Waiving the question whether it would be wise to dedicate any of the portals of the Park to monuments of the living, about which there might be a difference of opinion, it is not likely that Mr. VANDERBILT would consent to give away to others, even to the Central Park, what came to him as a present. It would require the joint assent of the Commodore and of the donors of the bronze to carry out such a transaction. But supposing that could be effected, as it doubtless could if the Commodore assented, remains the question whether the work would be so appropriate and effective anywhere else as on the vast edifice for which it was constructed, and on which it now reposes.

That building is the work of the Commodore; it sums up, as it were, his greatest industrial achievements. Why transfer a decoration constructed for it, to a place where it would lose half its significance and for which it has no special appropriateness? On the whole we regard the bronze in question as the right thing in the right place. And if the Commodore wishes to make his mark on the Central Park he has the means to do it, and no doubt will have the permission of the Commissioners. If he should ever do for the Park as magnificently as his friends have done for him, the Park would have no more attractive or notable feature than that which would be thenceforth permanently associated with his name.

The Democratic State Convention meets to-day at Syracuse. The choice of delegates apparently has disappointed the Tammany Regency, who have not received the cordial support for their combination which they counted upon when the ejectment papers were served upon BELMONT. The people from the rural districts do not seem to relish the flippant style in which they have been invited to a back seat at the approaching entertainment, and all the front places reserved for Tammany delegates. They have, therefore, sent quite a large number of old-fashioned square-toed Democrats to the Convention, with Governor SEYMOUR at their head, to see whether it is true that the country Democrats "lag superfluous on the stage." If Mr. SEYMOUR goes to the Convention it is to be presumed that he will preside.

The Want of a Normal School in New-York.

We have had occasion to comment favorably on the action of the new Board of Education in various directions. On one point, however, they have failed to meet public expectation, and that in regard to a want in our educational system which few intelligent men differ about. We allude to the notorious lack in our City of a training school for teachers, or Normal School, as it is inappropriately called.

Those who are familiar with the modern improvements in education in the best schools of Germany and England, are aware that there is almost as much difference between the old system and the new, as there is in manufactures between the days of the hand-loom and the modern factory. Many of the old stupid drill-rules are obsolete. The eternal round of routine repetitions from memory is replaced by a genuine working of the mind of the child or the youth. Various gaps, which in learning a language—especially the English—exist to the child between the sounds of letters and their names, are now crossed by convenient bridges of science. The senses are called early in play, and mathematics are learnt from things and models quite as early as from abstract numbers. Geography begins in the topography of the school-room, and in its higher reaches becomes a science of natural divisions as well as of political, and is connected with the natural history and geology of every country. Under the new system natural science, as furnishing the appropriate objects of a child's senses, is considered to be the basis of all education, and is taught not so much from books as orally and from objects of nature, and the youth learns the alphabet of science as early as he once learned that of a foreign language.

With the modern improvements of education, rules and abstract definitions take a much lower place than under the old plan—they being held the last results of a mature generalizing intellect, and therefore unsuited to youth. The improvements in the method of learning languages are equally marked. Besides these intellectual reforms in teaching, the moral methods have become known and their principles reduced to rule and maxim. The result of all this is a science of teaching, which can be conveyed to ordinary minds. And inventive teachers have always understood more or less of these improved methods, how the most common minds are taught them as an art, and go forth in the world skillfully trained in a profession.

It need not be said to those familiar with the New-York Public Schools that they know comparatively little of the advanced methods of teaching now adopted in England and Germany. The old routine system is almost everywhere preserved, and but few of the teachers have had a professional training. While most of the large cities of the Union have their "Normal Schools"—even San Francisco possessing an excellent one—this great Metropolis has never enjoyed one. It is notorious that a little city of Western New-York—Oswego—owing to its excellent Normal School, turns out better teachers, commanding higher salaries than any which New-York can furnish. Throughout our large ward schools, the cry from the superintendents and principals is for a class of trained teachers. It is true that a temporary provision was made to meet this crying want, by the old Board, in the establishment of a Saturday School for Teachers. This school, under the intelligent supervision of Mr. CAULKINS and others, has done something to educate instructors. But two or three hours a week are a most inadequate time for training in a difficult profession.

A great demand was made by the public upon the old Board of Education to put New-York on an equal footing with other large cities, and to found a Normal School.

Yielding to the popular pressure, the Board applied to the Legislature, some two years since, for an increase of the allotment from taxation of $2 per capita among the whole number of children instructed. One object which they held before the Legislature for granting them this increased income—amounting to a large sum—was that they might found a training school. The money thus obtained, however, was never appropriated to this purpose.

During the past year a considerable sum was voted by the Board for this long-talked-of object, and a very desirable plot of ground, near Sixty-second-street and the Boulevard was purchased at a low price. Specifications were even drawn up for the building; but nothing more was done. Again, in the present school year, the sum of $100,000 was appropriated for the Normal School; probably again to be used for the ordinary wants of the Ward Schools.

In the new Board it was supposed there would be an especial interest in this most needed improvement. But it is evident that they intend to slide it over to another year as the old Board have so often done. The whole subject has been referred to a committee, at the head of whom is a gentleman reputed to be intelligently informed in matters of education and charitable reform—Mr. ISAAC BELL, also Commissioner of the Board of Charities.

But in the public discussions the Committee already talk of selling their plot of ground, though it is most advantageously situated for a training school, being so near the public scientific collections of the Central Park; while any profit from its sale would not enure to the Educational Fund.

We trust that these discussions will now cease. The public expect of the Board to make no further delays, and to postpone this most important subject no longer, but to give us a sound Normal School.

Why Cincinnati Languishes.

Commander M. F. MAURY has offered some explanations to the people of Cincinnati on this point. He recalls the early promise of the city, and contrasts it with its actual position. Once Cincinnati was the commercial focus of the Ohio Valley. When the Erie Canal was opened an impetus was given to the construction of canals between the Ohio and the lakes. These canals gave Cincinnati a valuable trade with New-York, and very soon she acquired the proud title of "Queen of the West."

Immigration flowed more and more toward the West, and railways were constructed in every direction. Land near the lake borders was brought under cultivation, and the produce from it served to supply the country hitherto fed from the Erie Canal. Wagon and railway transportation sufficed to carry the grain to the districts which needed it.

Cincinnati was "blocked out by water from the Atlantic seaboard," and the war crippled her commerce with the South. Under these adverse influences she languished. And now, what can be done to revive her vanished glories? On this point Commander MAURY is fertile in suggestions. We may enumerate the most important of them.

Cincinnati stands "at the gateway of the route which the competition of the Virginia water line will open between the West and the Atlantic seaboard." Complete that water line on a scale commensurate with its importance. Thus a commercial highway to the sea would be secured. The Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad would supplement the water line. With these two improvements, Cincinnati would "stand without a rival in the West for direct trade through the Chesapeake Bay, between the heart of the Mississippi Valley and the whole of Western and Central Europe."

Such is the programme for the future which Commodore MAURY has drawn up. How does it please the people of Cincinnati? Will they attempt to carry it out? If they get their direct communication with Europe, goods from Paris or London would be shipped straight to them, and they would avoid New-York dues and commissions. It is a dazzling picture, and if our present method of administering justice continue, it will not be difficult to draw away any amount of business from this Metropolis. Besides, new channels of traffic are always among the surest means of recovering the prosperity of a community. Whether the same amount of money would go further in the direction which the Commodore proposes than in any other, we are not prepared to say.

The Scotch have erected a national monument at Stirling in honor of the heroic WILLIAM WALLACE, and the ceremony of "handing over" the monument was fixed for the 11th inst.—at which time it doubtless took place. It occupies a commanding and elevated position, and though there have been long and wearisome disputes about its style, it is said to be a very striking object. Mr. WM. BINNS, of Glasgow, who has been mainly instrumental in its erection, has written a letter concerning it to a gentleman of this City, in the course of which he says:

> "The monument will remain to tell that, in this busy, toiling, cosmopolitan—and what is worse, this sceptical nineteenth century—there were Scotsmen left, at home and abroad, sufficiently appreciative of what was done and suffered for their country, as to raise a monument to the memory of one who died nearly 600 years ago! And, although the design was not of my selection, I can assure you that when any of you come to the 'Auld Kintra' you will really be proud to visit the summit of the Abbey Craig."

PERSONAL AND LITERARY.

Major-General CRAWFORD lately received the degree of LL. D. from the University of Pennsylvania, of which he is a graduate. This honor will rest more gracefully and appropriately on General CRAWFORD's shoulders than on those of some of the other military officers upon whom it has lately been conferred by sundry institutions of learning. For he is a scholar as well as a soldier—a man of thought and ideas as well as of military achievement. General CRAWFORD is now commanding in Alabama.

Rev. W. H. MILBURN, the famous and eloquent "blind preacher," has just returned from Europe after an absence of a year and a half. His object in going was to consult the eminent oculist, Professor VON GRAEFER, of Berlin. After a careful study, this distinguished surgeon thought the right eye might be benefited by two operations, and accordingly performed the first in December last, with such success that Mr. MILBURN was enabled to see, not only the light, but the distinct shape, of the flame of a candle at the distance of thirty feet. Unfortunately, however, this advantage was lost twelve days later, by the occurrence of a severe inflammation, from the effect of which the eye has not yet recovered. It is hoped, however, that, by next Spring, the organ may regain sufficient tone to justify a second operation—an exceedingly delicate one, the removal of the opaque crystalline lens. Should it be successful, and no destructive inflammation follow, Mr. MILBURN may be able to see large objects, and thus regain, at least partially, the independence which belongs to men of vision. During his absence, Mr. MILBURN has had rare opportunities to study men and things in Europe, and the results of his journey he has embodied in two lectures, one entitled "What a Blind Man Saw in Paris," and the other "A Blind Man's Experience in Search of Light." Mr. MILBURN's address for some weeks will be Jacksonville, Ill. His new lectures will be heard with the greatest interest throughout the country, where his eloquent voice is already so widely known, and we do not recall any lectures announced for the coming season which promise to be more attractive. Mr. MILBURN's lectures will be delivered in New-York, it is hoped, early in November.

The following letter from the eminent novelist, Miss MARIAN EVANS, to one of our publishing firms, will be read with interest. It is intended to be prefixed to the new "Household Edition" of the lady's works, two of which, Adam Bede and Romola, have already been issued in it:

To Messrs. Fields, Osgood & Co.:

DEAR SIRS: Your intimation that my friends in America would welcome a new uniform edition of my novels with the latest corrections, is very gratifying to me. Some of the most intelligent and generous sympathy I have received has come to me from your side of the Atlantic, and has given me a belief in my public there, which is a precious source of encouragement. I have also good reasons, not probably peculiar to myself among the English authors whose works you have reproduced, for especially wishing my books to appear under the auspices of your firm; and I therefore gladly authorize you to publish the proposed edition, leaving the form and price to your more experienced judgment.

I remain, dear Sirs, yours faithfully,
GEORGE ELIOT.

LONDON, May 20, 1869.

Messrs. CHARLES SCRIBNER & Co. will shortly publish: 1. A new volume of LANGE's Commentary, the Epistle of Paul to the Romans. 2. Reminiscences of JAMES A. HAMILTON, or men and events at home and abroad during the last three-quarters of a century. 3. The Intelligence of Animals, from the French of ERNEST MENAULT. 4. Bible Animals: Being a description of every living creature mentioned in the Scriptures, from the ape to the coral. By Rev. J. G. WOOD. 5. The Universe: The Infinitely Great and the Infinitely Small; translated from the French of F. A. POUCHET. 6. History of the Church in the Eighteenth and Nineteenth Centuries. By K. R. HAGENBACH, D. D., University of Basle. 7. Ancient States and Empires; a work for Colleges and Schools. By JOHN LORD, LL. D. 8. Life of J. ADDISON ALEXANDER, D. D. By Rev. H. C. ALEXANDER. 9. A series of works in the Illustrated Library of Wonders; and 10. A variety of new holiday and gift books which will be announced in due season.

Mr. FAGNANI's celebrated portraits, the "Nine Muses," have arrived from Boston, and a private view is afforded of them this day at No. 82 Fifth-avenue, after which, we presume, they will be placed on public exhibition.

Dr. MARION SIMS, the eminent surgeon to the Empress EUGENIE, is in the City.

WASHINGTON.

The Collection of the Whisky Tax—Distillers to Co-operate—The Tobacco Frauds in Virginia—Specie in Southern Banks.

Special Dispatches to the New-York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—One of the most gratifying evidences of the increased vigor with which the collection of the whisky tax is being enforced, is found in the fact that the distillers in some of the largest whisky districts are now making overtures to the revenue officers to form an alliance against illicit distilling. They now argue that they can make more money by running honest, provided all run honest, than they can by making illicit whisky, taking the chances for detection, &c. They propose to form associations for the purpose of aiding the revenue officers in detecting dishonest distillers, and there is no doubt but they can greatly aid the officers in the collection of the tax.

AN EXPLANATION.

A paragraph appeared in these dispatches a few weeks ago, referring to certain tobacco frauds in Virginia, and further stating that Supervisor PRESBREY, of that State, severely censured the conduct of a United States Marshal for complicity. The officer censured was not a United States Marshal, but a special detective, with whom the Marshal had nothing to do. Mr. PRESBREY writes that he has never censured the Marshal or his officers in any way, and compliments that officer for his hearty coöperation in enforcing the Internal Revenue laws.

PERSONAL.

Collector STOCKDALE and Congressman SHELDON, of New-Orleans, are here in reference to revenue frauds in Louisiana.

General BABCOCK, of the President's staff, who has been absent most of the Summer, even as far as San Domingo, has returned to the city.

Dispatches to the Associated Press.

HONEST DISTILLERS AS GAUGERS.

Distillers in some of the whisky districts have been making overtures to the Revenue Office to the effect that they can make more money by running their distilleries according to law, provided all distillers do the same, than they can by making illicit whisky, and incurring the risk of detection and the consequent penalties. They, therefore, propose to form associations to aid revenue officers in detecting dishonest distillers.

HEALTH OF THE CITY.

The Board of Health reports the number of deaths during the past year a little less than two per cent., considering the population of the city at 125,000. During the years 1868 and 1869 there was no epidemic whatever of a serious character.

THE PRESIDENT.

The President has telegraphed to General BABCOCK that he will return to Washington at noon to-morrow.

A Royal Scaffold-Piece.

The gold piece given by King CHARLES I. to Bishop JUXON on the scaffold at Whitehall, has just been sold in London. It belonged to the estate of the late Mr. THOMAS BROWN, and was bought by Mr. WEBSTER, of Henrietta-street, Covent Garden, for the large sum of £345. Its weight is 1 ounce 10 pennyweights 15 grains. There can be no doubt, it is said, about the fact of its having been so given by the King, both from its appearance as a pattern, having a mint-mark probably for a £5 or £6 piece submitted by the engraver for His Majesty's approval, as well as from its being conveyed down in a direct line from the Bishop to its possessor in 1836, when it was bought by Colonel DRUMMOND. On the occasion of its last sale, there was also sold a New-England halfpenny of 1694, which brought £10 5s., and eight American halfpennies of 1776, for £8.

The Annexation Feeling in British Columbia.

Speaking of one of Mr. SEWARD's recent speeches, and of the supposed taste among the British-American colonists for annexation to the United States, the Toronto Globe says:

> "There is in the Pacific colonies, as there always will be in every community on this continent, a few people who think that they could do better if annexed to the United States. These are the men who have failed politically or commercially, and who believe that they could strike in for a new start under a fresh order of things; and there are others, who, finding trade a little dull from the want of fresh gold fields, allow themselves to be persuaded by the former class that annexation to the United States would bring about a commercial millenium. They do not stop to ask why it should, or how it is to be brought about. They are even ignorant that the dullness of which they complain is felt also in England and Europe, and is paralyzing trade in the United States. They overlook the extreme youth of their country, and fail to see the extent to which they have passed their neighbors. If annexation is to bring blessings upon them, we might ask why it has failed to do anything for Washington Territory, which Mr. SEWARD assures us has but 8,000 souls within its limits. It is impossible to consider the possible future of the Pacific Colonies without coming to the conclusion that, as a portion of Canada, they will become rich and important Provinces; while as States in the Union their value would be lost and overshadowed in the superior claims of San Francisco and other ports of the South."

A Pertinent Question.

From the Herald, Sept. 21.

Sidney coal, we are assured by a correspondent, can be delivered in this City now in quantities of 100 tons, at $7 per ton. Let the people reflect that $1 70 of this price is paid for duty. Thus the price of the same coal, if it were relieved of the duty imposed to "protect" Pennsylvania, would be $5 30. Can we protect Pennsylvania at this expense to our own people?

SOUTH AMERICA.

The Paraguayan War—Advantages of Lopez—The Triple Alliance and its Terms—Reform in the Argentine Government—Indications of Progress.

From Our Own Correspondent.

BUENOS AYRES, S. A., Sunday, Aug. 15, 1869.

There is a great deal of sameness in our reports of the war. From latest accounts the Allies seem not disposed to venture into the interior beyond safe lines of supply or retreat. But for the convenience of the railway, the Brazilian Commander, Count D'EU, would hardly have gone the thirty leagues he has traveled from the coast. The cost of moving an army in that country is fabulous, and the dangers are great. LOPEZ is wily, revengeful, and relentless, and the natural impediments to an army's progress are many and great. Sand-hills, morasses, jungles, long lakes, and supplies even for horses having to come hundreds of leagues, altogether make obstacles of a very serious kind. The diseases incidental to camp life are increased in number and fatality by a hot climate, new in its demands on so many unacclimated men.

LOPEZ understands the advantages given him by nature, and if he can hold out long enough he knows that climate and jungle and morass will lift up a strong arm in his defence and for the destruction of his enemies. At present LOPEZ is occupying Ascurra, near the end of the railway, but it is known that he has been removing his valuables and his seat of government farther back to Caaguazie. Once there and he can rely on one of his men being equal to about five of the enemy counted on their landing from the river. Four and a half years of war, with no imports from Europe, have taught the Paraguayans how to live upon their own resources. The living is poor enough, little better than that of native Indians, but for the masses of his force it is as good as they generally had in time of peace, and they do not expect pay for military duty.

Count D'EU, a few days ago, made an attack on Ascurra, but the morass in front and the height of LOPEZ's camp prevented any decisive results. There are now within the lines of the Allies about 20,000 women and children, and here and there Paraguayan men swarm in dangerous groups so near to Asuncion as to make it unsafe for unprotected persons to go out anywhere except within the circle of the Allies' sentinels, so little do the Paraguayans desire to be freed from the yoke of LOPEZ.

There is no doubt but that the Allies are now looking as carefully for a good pretext to close the war as they once did for reasons for beginning it. The genius who can devise a mode of getting the Allied army back and preserving the national honor of the three nations, will receive more plaudits than does Mr. O'DONNELL, of Buenos Ayres, who claims that he has squared the circle.

By the terms of the Triple Alliance treaty, all the cannon taken by the Allies are to be divided and carried out of the country.

Humaita, the principal fort on the river, must be leveled to the ground, and a treaty of peace must be made with a new Government, and LOPEZ must be out of the country. The guns taken are sent away, Humaita is a leveled ruin, and yet the people cling to LOPEZ as to a father. The country is impoverished, as if a tempest of fire had swept it, and of the hundred thousand or so of soldiers sent into Paraguay, the remnant, if left for garrisons, would soon melt away. Tributes to pay expenses have not yet begun to come in, and when they are looked for they will be about as great and as certain as would be tributes from your own Sioux or Cheyennes. No matter if LOPEZ is a despot, and if the people are ignorant and iron-trodden; no matter with what amount of blood or terror LOPEZ has ruled, his people show no signs of preferring other rulers, and the war gives no promise of remuneration for a ten-thousandth part of the treasure of life and gold that it has cost.

The reformatory movements of President SARMIENTO continue, and every department of Government is given new vigor. Congress comes slowly into the march of progress, and some of his schemes are tabled, but he has so many that even a small proportion sanctioned must give the country a fair impulse. There is one provision in the Constitution that allows a great abuse: it is that allowing Congress to call any Cabinet officer to its bar at any time, to give verbal explanations concerning any facts or policy. On such occasions there may occur long disputes between Congressmen and the Ministry. Thus far President SARMIENTO's Cabinet has been victorious in every issue of this kind.

AMUSEMENTS.

THE STATUESQUE AT THE TAMMANY.

One cannot have too much of a good thing. To the statuesque element supplied to the Tammany entertainment by a show of the fair proportions of numerous dancing girls, has been added the exhibition of Mr. JAMES MACE. We suspect that the title the gentleman bears, namely, that of retired champion of the English prize ring, has had more to do with his engagement than a confidence in the attractiveness of his performance; but the not unworthy influence of his efforts remains nevertheless to be taken into consideration. Mr. MACE appears in the middle of the evening. A few minutes before the curtain rises the lights are turned down and several bars of music, in agitato time, are heard. The drop rolled up discloses a series of screens covered with maroon cloth and hemming in a small platform upon which are centred the rays of a double lime-light. Recumbent on the platform is a tall figure of superb lines and white in every part as if hewn from Parian marble. No bow responds to the applause, and not a movement of the figure is discernible. A tall gentleman steps from a wing, and pointing to the statue commits the unpardonable sin of breaking the spell by a formal introduction. But the statue is superbly disdainful, and continues so to every shouted comment upon its different postures until the end. As the musicians strike up it becomes instinct with life, freezing every now and then into sculptural significance. First we behold Hercules struggling with the lion and overcoming him. The club disappears, the active strength subsides, and a stalwart Roman stoops to fasten his sandal. A strong arm is stretched out again, and Hercules throws the quoit. Other illustrations follow, a soft violet light now falling upon the statue. It softens the profile of the African alarmed at thunder, and Ajax defying the lighting—a wondrous transition from an expression of uncontrollable terror to a god-like defiance of the storm—and then displays the slave, sharpening his knife, Samson bearing away the gates of Gaza, the Fighting, and, lastly, the Dying Gladiator. The last two stories, told in marble, please most, for they speak of modern and fierce struggles, and the memory of these, to many of the frequenters of the gallery of Tammany, is particularly grateful. That they are fraught with such a meaning, however, lessens not their excellence, and when, finally, the curtain having fallen, Mr. MACE comes before the footlights and acknowledges, speechlessly, the applause, even the gentlest tenants of the house join in the demonstration, which rewards a really interesting and properly appreciated, an elevating spectacle.

MR. JEFFERSON IN BROOKLYN.

On Monday evening Mr. JEFFERSON gave his superb impersonation of Rip Van Winkle at the Brooklyn Academy of Music, under the management of Mr. C. W. TAYLEURE. The house was crowded in every part, and presented a brilliant appearance. Mr. JEFFERSON seemed in excellent spirits, and has hardly ever acted better. He was received throughout with abundant applause, and made a profound impression upon his audience. "Rip Van Winkle" is to be repeated to-night at the Academy for the last time, the performance also terminating Mr. JEFFERSON's Brooklyn engagement.

GRAND OPERA AT THE ACADEMY.

The promised season of Grand Opera begins to-night at the Academy with "La Juive." We again express the hope that the new company, who are all strangers among us, may have a hearty reception and gain a decided success. Grand Opera has too long been unknown in New-York, a City wherein it should be an established institution, but which requires liberal and steadfast patronage to enable it to live a wholesome and thriving life. Lovers of the opera should make a strenuous effort to give the French artists who open to-night support fully adequate to their deserts. It is, as yet, rather early in the season, a consideration which makes such an effort highly important. Reports have reached us to the effect that this company, who have been announced with rather exceptional modesty, includes sterling artists, and that the operas will be placed upon the stage with care and fidelity. Let the public now do their part and render honor where honor is due.

BREACH OF COPYRIGHT.

The Important Case of Lawrence vs. Dana, at Boston—Decision Against Mr. Dana.

From an Occasional Correspondent.

BOSTON, Tuesday, Sept. 21, 1869.

The long litigation in this suit has at last been advanced another and a very material step. The point around which the public interest centres has been decided. The Court has found an infringement by the respondent of the complainant's copyright.

It was in August or September, 1866, that Mr. RICHARD H. DANA, Jr., of Boston, published his annotated edition of WHEATON'S Elements of International Law. Previously two annotated editions of the same work had been published by Mr. WM. BEACH LAWRENCE, of Newport. In all of these editions the annotations formed a very large and a very valuable portion of the whole work. Prior to the actual publication of Mr. DANA's edition, it became currently reported in literary and professional circles that the task was undertaken by him for the express purpose of superseding the labors of his predecessor, which were stated to have been seriously unsatisfactory, to have injured the original work, and to be, in many matters concerning the rebellion in our own country, disloyal and obnoxious to Northern sentiment. The source of these reports could not, perhaps, be traced with absolute accuracy. But they were very naturally attributed by Mr. LAWRENCE to the new editor, his employer and his well-known and influential publishers, who certainly, whether they originated them or not, never sought to check their repetition. In Mr. DANA's preface the labors of his predecessor were only noticed for the purpose of stating that it had been deemed best wholly to discard them from the present and all future editions of the original work.

The advent of Mr. DANA's volume was welcomed with warm praise and congratulation. Its merits, which deservedly won this laudation, were many. The diction was graceful, the arguments were subtle, the thought was generally original and often profound. As an able and a fascinating composition it unquestionably ranked very high. But neither the harmony of the periods nor the professional beauty of the reflections sufficed to charm away the wrath of Mr. LAWRENCE. The loud charge of wholesale plagiarism soon assailed the ears of Mr. DANA amid the plaudits of friends, and a bill in equity in the Circuit Court of the United States sought the utter suppression of his notes on the unpleasant ground of literary piracy.

A somewhat odd initial difficulty presented itself to Mr. LAWRENCE in the fact that whereas he was alleging a breach of copyright and a theft of his literary property, the actual copyright constituting the title to that property stood in the name of another, to-wit, of Mrs. WHEATON, the widow of the deceased author. He had, therefore, first to establish, by means of a very imperfect agreement, which was scarcely more than a memorandum, made between himself and Mr. WHEATON, his right in equity to demand an assignment from her of the legal copyright. Numerous were the objections raised to this preliminary effort upon his part by the counsel for the respondents. Had any of them been sustained by the Court, a decision upon the real merits of the controversy could never have been reached, and the charges and recriminations of the rival writers might have continued till time brought oblivion of the whole contest. But the Judges overthrew every one of these obstacles, found that Mr. LAWRENCE had an equitable copyright, and thus came out fairly face to face with the question of plagiarism and infringement.

Upon this point the evidence was as extraordinary in its nature as it was astonishing in its amount. A comparison of his own notes with those of Mr. DANA was conducted by an expert under the immediate supervision of Mr. LAWRENCE himself, with an exhaustive and minute thoroughness which almost surpasses belief. Everything from the statements of grand general doctrines of the law down to the placing of punctuation marks and the method of writing dates was subjected to the same close and searching scrutiny. Months were employed in the task. As many months were employed by Mr. DANA and his counsel and expert in conducting a like examination, for the purpose of meeting, refuting and explaining the discoveries of the complainant. Further, Mr. DANA sought to establish, by a comparison of his own and of the complainant's works with those of other publicists, that the resemblances existing between them were no greater than would often and naturally be found in the works of legal writers discussing the same topic. But the residuum of charges which were left still uncontradicted and unexplained, after all Mr. DANA's testimony had been put in, was in many respects very singular and suggestive. There was an odd similarity between the two annotators in the selection of some historical instances and the rejection of others, which might have been supposed equally serviceable, in the same connection. A translation from such an out-of-the-way document as a Spanish newspaper, and divers other translations, were precisely identical in language in the two works. Incorrect citations, made by Mr. LAWRENCE, were found in the same incorrect form in Mr. DANA's notes. Series of dates in Mr. LAWRENCE's book, written sometimes with the figure denoting the day of the month after the name of the month, and sometimes before it, were found in Mr. DANA's book in the same order and with the corresponding peculiarity in each case as to the placing of the figure and the name of the month. Where Mr. LAWRENCE in his first edition had cited a certain edition of the works of a preceding writer, and in his later edition had added further citations from a later edition of such works, the same intermingling of the editions cited occurred in Mr. DANA's citations. Strings of authorities gathered by Mr. LAWRENCE were repeated in Mr. DANA's notes to the same point in precisely the same order. Some odd cases were pointed out, in which it seemed that the legal point stated by Mr. LAWRENCE had been omitted by Mr. DANA, and yet the authority cited to that point by the former had been retained in an impertinent connection by the latter. These will serve as specimens of the description of examination to which the works were subjected.

But they will also serve as specimens of the nature of the resemblance between the works. That they were sufficiently considerable in quantity to amount to an infringement of copyright, the Court has found, and probably no person who had examined the testimony would doubt. But they show only what might have been naturally expected as the result of the mental characteristics of the two men. Mr. LAWRENCE is a man of unbounded learning and power of acquisition. His work is a grand gathering of authorities of every description, from the abstruse labors of the ancient publicists to the articles in the daily newspapers. Mr. DANA, with far inferior power of labor and less command of learning, has made a work noteworthy for the power of original thought and reflection which it contains. In so doing he has used freely, much too freely as it now appears, the accumulation of wisdom stored up by his predecessor. It is an error which men of his class of mind may be supposed not inapt to fall into. It is an error which the law will punish, but which men of letters might be able to pardon.

But the element in his offending which it is less easy to excuse and which doubtless awoke that personal acrimony which has marked the contest and has undoubtedly inspired those immense labors which led to Mr. LAWRENCE's success, is his violation of good manners or literary courtesy. If Mr. DANA, and Mrs. WHEATON, and Messrs. LITTLE & BROWN all really believed that Mr. LAWRENCE's notes were an injury to the original text, they had a perfect right to supersede him with another editor, and to publicly declare that they would expurgate all traces of his composition from the new publication. But so to supersede him and to cast away all his labors with a sneer, and then to be discovered making extensive, and essential, and scarcely disguised use of those very labors, is hardly a satisfactory position for the chosen rival to be found in. In our opinion the æsthetic was greater than the legal error. Mr. DANA's fault in borrowing from Mr. LAWRENCE's learning might have been palliated by reason of the admirable and original use which he made of much of what he borrowed. But he should have frankly acknowledged his indebtedness, as is the wont of professional and historical writers in such circumstances. Mr. LAWRENCE's hostility might then never have been awakened, and he might have generously overlooked trespasses which were admitted and for which the obligation was acknowledged. This would clearly have been the wise, the just and the courteous course for Mr. DANA to have pursued, and it is for his repudiation of this rather than for his plagiarism—which, though considerable, is hardly absolutely excessive—that the public will incline to blame him.

Mr. DANA's work is not suppressed, nor is the sale of copies as yet enjoined. The portions in which he has infringed the copyright of Mr. LAWRENCE are first to be found by a master, and the injunction when finally issued will run only against these. The bulk and valuable parts of his work will, therefore, doubtless still remain open to the use of the world.

A Singular Trial in New-Hampshire.

From the Concord (N. H.) Patriot, Sept. 20.

The Supreme Judicial Court in session at Dover was occupied three days with the trial of the case of RICKER vs. FREEMAN—an action brought by the plaintiff against the defendant for injuries sustained eleven years ago, when the parties were school-boys of about 12 years of age. The evidence showed that during the recess of the school which they attended, the boys were "skylarking" on the stairs, in the course of which FREEMAN threw RICKER so violently that he fell upon some books in the wall, one of which entered his neck and did him so much injury that he has never recovered from the effects of it. The damages were laid at $5,000, and the action has been deferred till this late day [illegible]. The jury returned a verdict for the plaintiff of $5,000. [illegible] malice was imputed to the defendant.

CANYONS OF THE COLORADO.

Report of a Government Explorer—Descent of the Rapids—Fertile Valleys West of the Rocky Mountain Range—Rich Mineral Deposits.

From the Omaha Republican, Sept. 16.

SAMUEL ADAMS, Esq., a gentleman who has been for the last four years in the service of the War Department, engaged in exploring the Colorado River and the unexplored region of country lying west of the Rocky Mountain range, contiguous to that river, arrived in this city yesterday on his way to Washington, where he will submit to the Secretary of War an official report of his explorations and discoveries. Mr. ADAMS has furnished the following synopsis of his forthcoming report:

Editor Republican:

SIR: At your request, I give you a few hasty facts respecting the individual exploring enterprise with which I have been connected for the last four years, having for its object the exploration of the Colorado River and its tributaries. This river and the almost unknown country through which it wends its way from the Rocky Mountains to the Gulf of California, has been so much misrepresented by professional letter-writers and a more recent explorer, who has expended nothing individually and incurred none of the hardships inseparably connected with the development of the (terra incognita) West. The public, in consequence, have been much deceived, and very great injustice has been done to the mineral and agricultural resources of a neglected section of territory, which must soon attract the attention of the Government. It is impossible for me, in this brief communication, to enter into a subject at length upon which you have expressed so much interest, as I have done in my official report, which will be published in a few days.

My exploring party of eleven men, with four boats constructed on the Blue River, left a point on that stream eight miles from the main divide or summit of the Rocky Mountains, July 12, 1869, for the purpose of descending that stream to the Grand (the main tributary of the Colorado) to a point on the Colorado River, where I had ascended from the Gulf of California over three years since, the facts of which were given in my published report to the Secretary of War. For the first 100 miles, after starting, I found the descent of the river to be over 5,000 feet. The Rocky and Cave Canyons of the Blue, and the 'Grand' and 'Swift' Canyons of the Grand River I found to be swifter and much more dangerous than the 'Mojave,' 'Painted,' 'Long,' 'Black' and 'Big' Canyons of the Colorado River, through all of which I have ascended and descended several times within the last three years. A description of the current, depth and length of canyons, &c., I gave in my published report. Where I left the river last to the Gulf of California, a distance of about 1,100 miles, the descent of water cannot be over 500 feet, or less than five feet to the mile, thus substantiating the statement made in my first report. In descending through a succession of rapid canyons I lost all my boats, instruments, maps, &c. The instruments were replaced, when, with my companions (two men) I proceeded upon a cedar raft. This was broken up and all our provisions lost, except four days' rations. For seventy-five miles the fall of water would average seventy feet to the mile; in some places 300 to the mile. While this was a source of satisfaction to myself, and an additional assurance that the fall of water must necessarily be less below, it was a cause of alarm to the balance of my party, who left me in the Rocky Cave Canyon. In these the perpendicular walls arose from 800 to 1,800 feet.

In descending the river upon our raft, as well as for seventy-five miles above where we constructed it, we passed through a succession of valleys from one mile to fifty in length, where we unexpectedly found wild oats, wheat, rye, barley, timothy and clover growing spontaneously, while the fine cedar and oak timber increased in size. The mineral resources we found to be of the most flattering character. Time will not permit me to enter into a full description of these or the superior facilities for making them available. Soon the public will know and appreciate these facts, and the Press of the East will no longer be led astray by descriptions of the canyons of the Colorado, given by a recent explorer in this, the eleventh hour, whose vision was so remarkably acute that at the distance of three hundred miles from Green River, he could see the canyons of the Colorado, in all their length and depth, and whose letters stated that he was the first to ascend the summit of Long's Peak, when it is a matter of public notoriety that women and men have gone before him for the last ten years, the day and date of whose ascent was marked upon the place of his triumph. I feel that I am digressing from my object in writing. Had I time I would enter upon it at length, and speak of it as its importance demands. Respectfully yours,

SAMUEL ADAMS.

Return of Colonel Powell—The Reported Murder of Members of his Party.

From the Chicago Tribune, Sept. 20.

We have received a brief note from Major POWELL, dated Mouth of Virgin River, Aug. 30, announcing the safe arrival of his expedition at that point. Virgin River is at the head of navigation on the Colorado, and the exploration, therefore, of the dangerous portion of that river may be considered as successful. In a few days we hope to receive from Major POWELL the full report he promises of his adventures and observations.

The Deseret News of the 7th inst. says, as had already been stated in a dispatch from Detroit, that Major POWELL had arrived at Fort St. George, in Utah, and the same paper of the 8th says that it has received a dispatch from St. George with the intelligence that three of the men belonging to the expedition had been killed by the Indians. The story rests on the report of a friendly Indian, who stated that the men were found, very hungry, by a portion of the Shebett tribe, who fed them and put them on the trail leading to Washington, in Southern Utah; that on their journey the men fell in with a squaw and shot her, whereupon they were followed by three of the Shebetts and killed. The names of the men are not given, and it is to be hoped that the whole story is untrue. It does not seem probable that the Powell party would have scattered immediately on issuing from the canyons of the Colorado, and if kept together Major POWELL would have had sufficient authority over his men to have prevented any collision with friendly Indians. If his men straggled, however, it is quite possible that they may have got into trouble. The Detroit dispatch, published some days ago, announcing to the Major's family in Detroit his arrival at St. George, does not mention this story of the Deseret News.

Colonel Powell in Chicago—Successful Exploration of the Grand Canyon of the Colorado—A Walled River Four Hundred Miles Long.

CHICAGO, Sept. 21.—Colonel J. W. POWELL, the Colorado explorer, returned to this city yesterday, having passed through the entire Grand Canyon, from the Green River to the point where the Colorado debouches into the open plain in the Territory of Arizona. From the point where Colonel POWELL's last letter was written, the expedition descended the river about 400 miles, between walls almost vertical, ranging from 500 to 1,500 feet high, the exterior of the canyon being from 2,500 to 4,000 feet above the bed of the river. More than 200 waterfalls and cascades, emptying themselves over the walls of the canyon into the main river, were seen in this distance, with almost every variety of natural scenery. The geological formation of the canyon consists principally of limestone and sandstone; granite is only found at three places and in a limited quantity. No discoveries of precious metals were made, and there were no indications of gold or silver found in the bed of the river. One section of the canyon was found to consist of a very fine, beautifully-polished marble, which, at present, is entirely inaccessible. The country traversed was barren beyond description, and is pronounced by Colonel POWELL as not susceptible of cultivation, even by the aid of irrigation.

The German-American School Association.

The General Committee of the German-American School Association, of this City, held their regular monthly meeting at the Germania Assembly Rooms last night, Mr. WILLIAM WALLACK presiding. Dr. LANDSBERG, the Recording Secretary, reported in the name of the Executive Committee that the petition and address adopted at the last meeting, in favor of the introduction of the German language as a regular branch of instruction in a number of ward schools, had been presented to the Board of Education. Delegates from several new German Ward School Clubs were admitted to the General Committee. The constitution and by-laws of the organization were then read and definitely adopted, with some slight alterations, and it was resolved to have them printed. It having been proposed by the Executive Committee that public lectures be given on important school questions in the English and German languages, Dr. ARENDS moved that public conferences be held for the purpose named, and to consider the ends and means of education generally, which was adopted. It was proposed that the conferences be held in the Jewish Synagogue on Fifth-avenue. Two different resolutions were offered, condemning the action of the German Executive Committee of the Democratic Party in belittling, for party purposes, the movement going on among the Germans of this City with regard to reforms in the public schools, and the introduction of German as a regular branch of instruction in them. A resolution was adopted expressing regret at the conduct of the German Democratic Executive Committee. The meeting, after some minor business, adjourned.

THE STATE CANALS.

Important Movement Concerning Their Management—The Canal Officials to be Looked After—Meeting of Committees in This City.

On Friday last three Committees, one appointed by the Citizens' Association, of this City, one by the Chamber of Commerce, and one by the New-York Produce Exchange, held a meeting at the rooms of the Chamber of Commerce to take measures for a thorough organization throughout the State of New-York, in order to effect a reform in the management of the canals, and to improve the canal trade.

The Committee of the Citizens' Association consisted of five persons, viz.: Messrs. Samuel Willets, Nathaniel Sands, William Wood, Joseph F. Daly and Richard M. Henry; the Committee of the Chamber of Commerce consisted of five, viz.: Messrs. James P. Wallace, Jeremiah P. Robinson, William H. Fogg, Paul N. Spofford and William H. Guion; and the Committee of the Produce Exchange consisted of five, viz.: Messrs. David Dows, M. M. Caleb, Jesse Hoyt, Carlos Cobb and Edward Hincken.

These Committees were all appointed by the important bodies they represented, pursuant to a circular sent by the Citizens' Association, signed by its President, Mr. PETER COOPER. It appears that in July last the Citizens' Association appointed an Investigating Committee to make an inspection of the canals and a canvass of the State, in order to see what means could be taken to check the enormous expenditure of the public moneys on these State works, and to resuscitate the languishing trade of the canals and place them on a proper paying basis. This Investigating Committee was accompanied by Mr. NATHANIEL SANDS, Chairman of the Executive Committee, and Mr. JOSEPH F. DALY, counsel of the Association. The Committee went through the State examining the canals, and stopping at cities, towns and villages to learn the public sentiment on the subject of the canal management. This condition of the canals themselves was found to be deplorable in the extreme, and the indignation of the citizens along the route and of all the persons doing business on the canals, against the mismanagement of the State officials, was outspoken and violent. The appearance of the Citizens' Association Committee was hailed as an indication that the wealth and capital of the Empire City were roused to take action on this important subject, and promise of coöperation was enthusiastically given. Information of fraudulent disposition of the State moneys, peculation by officials and neglect of the works was given to the Committee, which returned with facts enough to make sweeping charges against a host of men who have long enjoyed the public confidence while they were secretly diverting the public money. The Committee on its return prepared an exhaustive report on these matters, and invited the Chamber of Commerce and the Produce Exchange to appoint Committees to meet a Committee selected by the Association, for the purpose of conferring as to the action necessary to accomplish the reform so urgently demanded. The Committees were appointed and met as above stated. They organized as a permanent Joint Committee by electing Mr. SAMUEL WILLETS Chairman, and Mr. JOSEPH F. DALY Secretary. The report of the Citizens' Association was then read; it contained the history of a number of corrupt and fraudulent combinations of canal contractors and State officials in the giving out of contracts and jobs by which the State Treasury was depleted to the extent of several hundred thousand dollars; it contained a report upon the present disgraceful and decaying condition of the canals, bridges, locks, &c., which are suffering for repair, although over a million dollars are annually devoted to their maintenance; it showed how the trade of the canals is decreasing, owing to the blind policy of State officials who keep up the tolls, while the railroads are in eager competition underbidding for freight; it showed that while in the five years from 1859 to 1864 there was an average of 608 boats built per year for navigating the canals, in the five years from 1864 to 1869 there was an average of only 318 boats built per year; that the total original cost of the canals was $97,341,871 59, and that $30,153,950 46 more have been spent upon them for repairs, while their total earnings have been but $103,323,865 60; that the Erie Canal alone pays a profit over its running expenses, and the profits of the other canals together were last year $676,776 behind their current expenses; that a short sighted or an interested policy dictates the actions of the State officials who manage the canal, and the result will soon be their total extinction; that instead of applying upon them the vast sums appropriated from the pockets of the taxpayers, it is wasted or finds its way into interested private hands; instead of lowering the tolls to obtain freight, they are kept up, and the State railroads owned by private monopolists take the whole business, or else it goes through the Canadas; that instead of encouraging steam appliances for obtaining speed in navigating the canals, the old horse-drag system of fifty years ago is still used, showing that the Empire State of America is behind even the smallest European countries in such improvements. The report suggested the reforms needed, and pointed out the officials who were guilty of neglecting their trusts in these great matters.

Mr. SANDS addressed the Committee on the subject, showing the action already taken by the Citizens' Association, and suggesting the courses open to the community to secure the needed reform.

On motion, the following resolution was then unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That the Chairman and Secretary invite individuals throughout the State, and delegates (not more than five from any one body) from all Boards and Associations through the State interested in the management and trade of the canals, to meet this Committee in the City of New-York on the 19th day of October, 1869, and confer as to a general organization in the State for the purpose of instituting reform in the management of the canals.

The meeting adjourned after a harmonious and lengthy session, in which the experience of the various members was developed and various views in respect of the objects to be accomplished were brought forward. The invitations for the General Convention of the 19th of October are being prepared with all speed under the direction of Mr. DALY, the Secretary, at the rooms of the Citizens' Association.

Relief for the Avondale Sufferers.

Last evening the Apollo Dramatic Association gave a performance at SIEBERT's Hall, East Eighth-street, the proceeds of which will be given to the fund for the relief of the Avondale sufferers. The programme was somewhat lengthy and difficult for an amateur company's first performance. It consisted of "The Idiot Witness," a drama in four acts, and two comediettas. The Association is Jewish, and its friends came forward in large numbers to aid in the good work. Some 250 tickets were sold at fifty cents apiece, and as the expenses of the affair could not have been very large the net contribution to the fund will probably amount to fifty or sixty dollars.

The following additional subscriptions to the Avondale fund have been received at the Mayor's office:

Amount previously acknowledged	$10,391 85
New York Herald collection, through James Gordon Bennett	4,112 00
Through Messrs. Crook, Fox & Nash, No. 39 Park-row	100 10
H. B.	25 00
From prisoners of Ludlow-street Jail, through John Magee, deputy keeper	17 20
Grand total	$14,646 15

Marshal TOOKER, of the Mayor's office, will proceed to Avondale to-day, to ascertain the condition of the families of the deceased miners, and will report to the Mayor and the Common Council Committee.

LOCAL NEWS IN BRIEF.

New-York.

The remains of MICHAEL CASEY, the cartman who was drowned on Friday at the foot of East Sixteenth-street, were recovered yesterday and taken to his late residence, No. 403 East Eighteenth-street, where Coroner KEENAN will hold an inquest.

The three-story frame building No. 312 East Sixty-second-street fell to the ground last evening, causing the owner, Mr. GEORGE MUNN, a loss of $5,000. The cause of the disaster is unknown.

New-Jersey.

Mrs. HARTMAN, who was charged with having committed an assault and battery on another woman in Fort Lee, was yesterday sentenced by Judge BEDLE to four months' imprisonment.

A fire occurred yesterday forenoon at the leather factory of J. STENGEL & SONS, Academy-street, Newark. A portion of the building was destroyed with a loss of about $3,000. The property was insured in the National Insurance Company and Pacific Insurance Company of New-York; Insurance Company of North America of Philadelphia, Newark Mutual, Merchants' Mutual, and Fireman's Mutual.

The September Term of the Essex County Court commenced yesterday morning at Newark, Judge DEPUE charging the Grand Jury. In his charge, which was elaborate, the Judge referred to the act which provides severe penalties for the crime of producing abortion and for the publication of indecent advertisements.

UNANIMOUS APPROVAL.—Before PHALON introduced his inestimable VITALIA, or SALVATION FOR THE HAIR, its effects were tested on the gray heads of more than fifty persons. They have all recorded their testimony that it restores the natural color in from five to ten days. The change is gradual, but perfect, and the new article deposits no disgusting sediment, does not stain the skin, is harmless, and has a pleasant odor.—Advertisement.

America Restored America.

The greatest discovery of this great century for Restoring the Original Color of the Hair of all ages, sexes and conditions. Precipitates no sediment. PURUS ET LIMPIDUS as the sun-distilled dew of heaven, and possesses the following merits: Restores Color, removes Dandruff, prevents Hair from falling off, and is a pleasant dressing, beautifying the hair by rendering it soft and glossy; in fact, as a dressing alone, it entirely supersedes every other with those who have used it. We are permitted to refer to Bankers, brokers, merchants and others who have used it the past year, and who pronounce it PREEMINENTLY SUPERIOR TO EVERY OTHER EVER OFFERED to this community. Prepared by Dr. I. J. O'BRIEN, depot No. 202 East Thirtieth-street.—Advertisement.

Because a Person Has a Bad Cough,

it should not be inferred that consumption has set in, although a case of consumption is rarely met with unaccompanied by a distressing cough. Where, however, a predisposition to pulmonary disease exists, a cough, if left to itself, strains and racks the lungs and wastes the general strength, and soon establishes an incurable complaint. In all cases, then, it is the safer plan to get rid of a cough, cold or hoarseness without delay, and for this purpose no remedy acts more promptly or surely, or with more benefit to the organs of the chest than Dr. D. JAYNE'S EXPECTORANT, an article scientifically compounded from carefully-selected drugs, and which, on trial, will always be found worthy of its world-wide reputation. Sold by all druggists.

A Good Purchase.

The right, recipe and full ownership of a staple proprietary article, quick and lively each Spring in American markets and just well entering other territory, is offered for sale if negotiated for within a few weeks. It has been advertised effectively many thousand dollars during the past five or six seasons. Recent investigations have developed an improvement in manufacture much reducing cost of production while efficiency is very much enhanced. Any patent medicine man or other party desiring to secure a perfected preparation, its name decreed as exclusive trade mark by United States Court, with mercantile value made ready to one's hands, can add this article to other business not requiring entire attention, to good advantage. I. ARMY LIFE IN A BLACK REGIMENT.

By T. W. HIGGINSON. 1 vol. 16mo. $1 50.

Colonel Higginson was in command of the First South Carolina Regiment of colored troops from its organization to the close of the war. He observed minutely and with sympathy all the peculiar modes of thought, expression and movement of men transformed so suddenly from slaves to soldiers; he became familiar with their ideas respecting social, political and religious matters. His book will attract general attention by its striking descriptions of scenery and character, its pervading sympathy and frequent humorous touches.

A GREAT SUCCESS—GREATER THAN was anticipated. Two editions entirely exhausted. The publisher of HITCHCOCK'S NEW MONTHLY MAGAZINE is compelled to announce to the trade that no more copies of the October number can be had before THURSDAY, the 23d inst., at which date the American and the New-York News Companies will be able to supply all demands.

REAL ESTATE TRANSACTIONS.

Yesterday was a very busy day in the Real Estate market. The weather was bright, warm and pleasant; the roads were in fine condition, and everything was favorable for suburban sales.

The sale made by Messrs. A. J. BLEECKER, SON & CO., at West Bergen, N. J., was a great success. Perhaps 300 persons attended the sale, and they were of the class that are always welcomed. The auctioneer, refreshed by his Summer vacation, went to work with a will, and in his well-known hearty manner at once engaged the attention of the large crowd which surrounded. From the first they manifested a desire to buy, and the lots were all sold at very satisfactory prices. West Bergen is very rapidly developing, is in the immediate neighborhood of Jersey City, and property owners within its borders predict for it great things in the days to come. The lots are of city size, 25x95 and 25x100, and sold at prices ranging from $350 to $625 each.

At Great Neck, L. I., Messrs. JOHNSON & MILLER had another large and very satisfactory sale. The trip by boat and by rail was very pleasant, and by the excursionists greatly enjoyed. They alighted at the grounds in high spirits and with excellent appetites. A substantial lunch well served was speedily cared for, after which they were prepared to appreciate the beauties of the place and be interested in the sale. Never were more beautiful grounds brought under the hammer. It was one of the beautiful flower gardens of the country thrown open to the people, and by their prompt and spirited bidding they showed how fully they understood its beauties. Every lot was sold, and to a legitimate buyer. The party was a very excellent one. In fact, under the excellent Police rules now adopted by the different auctioneers, it is almost impossible for any disreputable persons to crowd themselves in at any sale. One or two competent detectives accompany each excursion party, and if the wrong sort of an individual does enter the train, he is immediately requested to retire. If he objects or shows a disposition to resist, half a dozen policemen are in attendance to walk him off in a hurry. The roughs generally understand this, and consequently do not now make even the effort to attend. The party returned to the City at an early hour, and separated well satisfied with the trip. The personal property will be sold on Friday of this week on the grounds.

To-day, at the Exchange Salesroom, Messrs. A. J. BLEECKER, SON & CO., will sell the charming oriental residence of E. T. CHRISTIANSON, Esq., situated on the Passaic River, five miles' walk from the railroad station. The mansion is 45x50, built in a very substantial manner and finished elegantly. The grounds contain about three acres, with fine orchard, &c. A neat cottage on the river, and a plot of ground containing about one acre, will be sold at the same time and place.

PUBLIC NOTICES.

SUPREME COURT.—IN THE MATTER of the application of the Mayor, Aldermen and Commonalty of the City of New-York, relative to opening One Hundred and Twenty-sixth-street, from the Second-avenue to the Eighth-avenue, in the City of New-York.

We, the undersigned Commissioners of estimate and assessment in the above entitled matter, hereby give notice to the owner or owners, occupant or occupants, of all houses and lots and improved or unimproved lands affected thereby, and to all others whom it may concern, to-wit:

FIRST—That we have completed our estimate and assessment, and that all persons interested in these proceedings, or in any of the lands affected thereby, and who may be opposed to the same, do present their objections in writing, duly verified, to Edward Hogan, Esq., our Chairman, at the office of the Commissioners, No. 82 Nassau-street, (Room No. 42,) in this City, on or before the fifteenth day of October, 1869, and that we, the said Commissioners, will hear parties so objecting within the ten week days next after the said fifteenth day of October, 1869, and for that purpose will be in attendance at our said office on each of said ten days, at 2 o'clock, P. M.

SECOND—That the abstract of the said estimate and assessment, together with our maps, and also the affidavits, estimates, and other documents which were used by us in making our report, have been deposited in the Street Commissioner's office, in the City of New-York, there to remain until the twenty seventh day of October, 1869.

THIRD—That the limits embraced by the assessment aforesaid are as follows, to-wit: All those lots, pieces or parcels of land, lying and being on both sides of One Hundred and Twenty-sixth-street, between the Second-avenue and Eighth-avenue, and extending on either side of One Hundred and Twenty-sixth-street half the distance to the next street thereto; and

FOURTH—That our report herein will be presented to the Supreme Court of the State of New-York, at a Special Term thereof, to be held at the City Hall, in the City of New-York, on the first day of November, 1869, at the opening of the Court on that day, and that then and there, or as soon thereafter as counsel can be heard thereon, a motion will be made that the said report be confirmed.

Dated NEW-YORK, Sept. 9, 1869.

REDDY THE BLACKSMITH

THE PRISONER ARRAIGNED FOR TRIAL.

Disappearance of the Principal Witness.

Remarks of the City Judge and Counsel--The Prisoner Remanded.

The first case on the calendar of the Court of General Sessions yesterday was that of "Reddy the Blacksmith," otherwise WILLIAM VARLEY. Before 11 o'clock the Court-room became compactly filled in every part with spectators, largely composed of friends of the prisoner, who manifested intense interest in every little feature connected with the proceedings. So rapidly did the crowd increase, that it finally became necessary to procure the services of a posse of policemen, in order to keep a passageway open to the Court-room.

The accused was brought to the Court from the Tombs by special officers in a very quiet way. VARLEY was indicted for robbery in the first degree, an offence punishable by twenty years' imprisonment in the State Prison; but the particulars of the alleged robbery have been so frequently published, that it is not necessary to give more than a short recapitulation of them here. The occurrence happened in March last, in an underground saloon in Chatham-square, of which VARLEY was the proprietor, the resort of debauchees, thieves and drunken ruffians. According to the story of LAWRENCE GRAHAM, alias Granahan, a resident of Hudson, N. J., who was the complainant in the case, there were frequenters of the saloon implicated in the robbery, among them being VARLEY and a sailor named HOWARD. The complainant was accompanied to the saloon by a chance companion named BRENNAN, who, he asserted, was one of his assailants, and who was recently convicted on his testimony, and subsequently sentenced to fifteen years' imprisonment in State Prison, but who died after having been there a few weeks. HOWARD was also found guilty of the robbery on GRAHAM's evidence, and was then sent to State Prison for five years, but was afterwards pardoned by the Governor on the recommendation of the City Judge and Prosecuting Attorney, who believed that he was innocent. The commencement of the trial of VARLEY in June last, his escape and subsequent recapture in California, are facts with which the public are familiar. The details of VARLEY's career have also been repeatedly alluded to.

Precisely at 11 o'clock yesterday morning VARLEY was arraigned. The Court directed its attention to the impaneling of a jury for the trial, which was accomplished in a much shorter time than was anticipated, the fears being that it would be extremely difficult to select twelve competent men who were unbiased in their opinions. The name of LAWRENCE GRAHAM, the principal witness, was next called and repeated by Assistant District-Attorney HUTCHINGS and Mr. SPARKS, Assistant Clerk, but no response was made. Thereupon, Assistant District-Attorney HUTCHINGS rose and said:

"May it please the Court, on last Thursday I notified Mr. HOWE, the counsel for WILLIAM VARLEY, that I should place him on trial to-day. At the same time I sent a subpœna, through one of the officers of the District-Attorney's office, to LAWRENCE GRAHAM, the complainant in the case against VARLEY, GRAHAM residing in Hudson City, N. J. I also, at the same time, notified Mr. BENJAMIN F. SAWYER, a lawyer in this City of character and position, and who is Mayor of Hudson City, who, when GRAHAM was committed to the House of Detention as a witness in this case, solicited his discharge, and stated that he would be responsible for his appearance on the day of trial. The District-Attorney also took a bond from LAWRENCE GRAHAM for his appearance to-day. At the time I notified Mr. HOWE that this case would be tried to-day, I supposed that there would be no doubt but that LAWRENCE GRAHAM would be present in Court to testify against WILLIAM VARLEY, for I noticed in the public Press that he had gone to different papers and stated there would be no doubt of his appearance on the day of trial. I hold in my hand a letter, which I will read to the Court, from Mayor SAWYER, of Hudson City:

HUDSON CITY, N. J., }
MAYOR'S OFFICE, Sept. 21, 1869. }

Samuel B. Garvin, District-Attorney:

DEAR SIR: I regret to say Mr. GRAHAM, the principal witness against Mr. VARLEY, has left our city by reason of the threats of VARLEY's friends and probably by giving him money. I saw the wife of Mr. GRAHAM yesterday, who called upon me to excuse the conduct of her husband in deceiving me by failing to be present at the trial, as he had promised that nothing should prevent his appearing as a witness when required. I gave her to understand that he must return immediately or he would get himself into trouble; and she promised to write him to return. His family is still residing in this city. If the trial could be postponed for a month I think I can manage to get him here. Very truly yours,

B. F. SAWYER, Mayor.

I also have an affidavit (continued Mr. HUTCHINGS) of Mr. J. R. MCCOMB, Jr., of the District-Attorney's office, which I will read:

State of New-York, City and County of New-York, ss.—J. R. MCCOMB, Jr., of the said City being duly sworn, deposes and says that on Friday, the 17th day of September, inst., he served a copy of the annexed subpœna upon a woman who thrice informed deponent that she was the wife of one LAWRENCE GRAHAM, against WILLIAM VARLEY and others, by delivering the same to her in person, who stated at the time that her husband was not then at home, but would return shortly—the said GRAHAM's residence being in the town of Hudson City, N. J. J. R. MCCOMB, Jr.

Sworn to before me this 20th day of September, 1869.
G. W. BLUNT, Notary Public, New-York County.

I have here also an affidavit of personal service upon the person who gave a bond for the appearance of LAWRENCE GRAHAM as a witness in this case—that is, Mr. FRANCIS BEGG, No. 81 Ridge-street, who went bail for Mr. GRAHAM's appearance as a witness in this case in the sum of $500.

State of New-York, City and County of New-York, ss.: JAMES REILLY, of the said City, being duly sworn, deposes and says that on Saturday, the 18th day of September instant, he served a copy of the annexed bail notice upon FRANCIS BEGG, No. 81 Ridge-street, bondsman for LAWRENCE GRAHAM, by delivering the same to him in person. JAMES REILLY.

Sworn to before me this (the 20th) day of September, 1869.
JAMES C. DENNY,
Commissioner of Deeds.

If the Court please, said Mr. HUTCHINGS, it may be recollected that WILLIAM VARLEY gave bail to appear when called upon for trial in this Court. He gave bail in a sufficient amount, and bail is permitted under the statute and under the Constitution. The morning that the case was to be tried in this Court WILLIAM VARLEY was in the neighborhood of the Court-room. I have heard that he was in the Court-room. When I called upon him to appear there was no answer. The next that was heard of him was that he was in San Francisco, Cal. Now I know not what are the motives which have actuated Mr. LAWRENCE GRAHAM, who was such a zealous complainant at one time, not to be present in this Court to-day. I know not what may be the consideration which has actuated him to leave the State of New-York and to go beyond the jurisdiction of this Court, where no process of the Court may reach him, for I understand he has gone into the British Provinces. But this I do know, that it must have been an improper motive; that it must have been, it seems to me, through some influence brought upon him by the defendant in this case; and in doing so he has trifled with this Court, and he is entitled to no favors from it. In the first place, he forfeited his bail bond, and when a prisoner forfeits his bail bond he cannot apply for any favors from the Court. He fled beyond the jurisdiction of the Court, and, through inducements of some character, which must have been made to the complainant by the prisoner, the complainant has also left the jurisdiction of this Court. Now, the prisoner must not expect that he, after having forfeited his bond, after having fled from the jurisdiction of this Court, he must not expect, after having induced the complainant, through some consideration, which must have been, it seems to me, an improper consideration, to ask any favor of this Court. I think that this Court can wait just as long for Mr. LAWRENCE GRAHAM to appear here as Mr. VARLEY can remain in prison; and I am not to be satisfied by the fact that LAWRENCE GRAHAM sends word that he is not to come into this Court. I think, therefore, your Honor, that the prisoner should be remanded to the Tombs; that he should be committed there without bail until all the powers of the District-Attorney's office are exhausted in endeavoring to secure the attendance of Mr. LAWRENCE GRAHAM, the complainant in this case. I also move that the bond which was given by LAWRENCE GRAHAM for his appearance as a witness in this case be forfeited by the Court.

Judge BEDFORD—Let the bond be forfeited.

The Clerk subsequently called the name of the bondsman, who failed to answer.

The counsel for the accused then said that the indictment showed that VARLEY had been indicted for having feloniously assaulted the complainant and having stolen $500 from him. He mentioned that GRAHAM had given an extended narration of his visits to several "gin mills" during the trial of BRENNAN, one of the accomplices in the alleged robbery, and of his final advent in the saloon kept by VARLEY. The complainant testified at that time that he had the money in his possession for the purpose of paying some debts, and that he had tendered it to the proper persons, but that they had refused to take it because they were too busy. Counsel said that GRAHAM had stated on the trial of HOWARD that he had paid a brewer named WHITNEY $75 out of the $500 which he had in his possession. It was asserted that WHITNEY had been subpœnaed to attend as a witness for VARLEY, and that he was ready to make oath that, so far from trusting GRAHAM for $75, he never trusted him for seventy-five cents, and that GRAHAM never paid him one dollar upon the day on which he deliberately swore he did. Counsel subsequently spoke of the fact that GRAHAM had formerly passed under the name of GRANAHAN. He said that BEGG, the bondsman for the complainant, was also prepared to swear that he was guilty of bigamy. Counsel then proceeded to give VARLEY's version of the robbery, in which it was claimed that the prisoner interfered in behalf of GRAHAM and attacked BRENNAN and SHEEHAN, whom he represented to be GRAHAM's assailants. It was alleged that the prisoner was originally arrested for intoxication, and that it was not until the day following the robbery that GRAHAM charged him with being one of his assailants. The complainant offered to withdraw his prosecution against VARLEY in the Police Court for the sum of $500. A letter was read, which was addressed by GRAHAM to VARLEY, in which he called him his "beloved friend," terminating with the expression, "yours to death." The writer stated that he was safe in Canada, and that he could not be induced to act as a witness against the defendant.

Judge BEDFORD subsequently said: "I must say that I am greatly surprised at the unaccountable conduct of LAWRENCE GRAHAM, the complainant. He has given testimony on two separate occasions, and now, when he is required to testify to-day, he is non est. Let an order be entered, recommitting WILLIAM VARLEY to the City Prison, there to remain until the District-Attorney shall have satisfied the Court that all available means to bring LAWRENCE GRAHAM to this Court, to testify in the matter of this alleged robbery, have been exerted and are exhausted. When the case shall present itself in this light, then, and not till then, the Court will entertain a motion for the prisoner's discharge."

AMERICAN WOOLENS.

Our Progress in Manufactures Thoroughly Demonstrated—What May be Seen at the Institute Fair.

No department of the American Institute Fair is more deserving of attention than that under the control of the National Association of Wool Manufacturers, which occupies the north-eastern angle of the rink. This Association was organized in 1864, and is now in the fifth year of its operations. Its existence in full activity for so long a period is an evidence that it has supplied a want heretofore existing in the department of industry to which it is devoted. The present exhibition is the first of any magnitude it has ever given, and speaks well for the energy and enterprise that characterize its members. Woolen goods of every shade, quality and variety are to be found here, and attract the notice of all who are interested in the progress of American manufactures.

The Lowell Manufacturing Company make an excellent display of American lastings, which for quality of finish and durability of wear have no superior. Fine assortments of reps and serges, from the same manufactory, are also in this department.

The Woolen Mills of Warsaw, Ill., present an interesting exhibition of fancy cassimeres. The texture of these goods is excellent, and the style of finish worthy of any establishment in the country.

From the Kalmia Mills of Mr. JULIUS GERSON, located in Naugatuck Valley, Conn., there is a splendid assortment of furniture cloth, for covering lounges, sofas, chairs, the seats of churches, theatres, steamboat cabins, &c., that is well worthy the attention of the visitor. Until within a few years past this class of goods was altogether imported; the silk patterns coming from France, the better quality of worsted from England, and the ordinary from Saxony. Now, however, the Kalmia Mills are supplying most of the upholsterers in this country, and, being the only establishment here for the manufacture of these goods, enjoys almost a monopoly of the trade. Besides the worsted patterns, the Kalmia turns out silk goods on a cotton warp, at a much less price than is paid for the imported article, and so nicely woven are they, that the cotton mixture can hardly be distinguished by the most thorough expert. Its principal manufactures, however, are woolens. The designs are invariably original and emanate from Mr. GERSON himself. As showing the intricacy of some of these, it may be mentioned that one of them, No. 37, a black floral figure on a red ground, twenty-one inches in size, takes 1,488 cards of wool, 720 warps and is 4,200 warps in width, which latter pass through 26,000 holes to be sized. To such a degree of perfection is this species of manufacture now brought, that American upholsterers prefer the Kalmia goods to any that are brought here from a foreign market. The mills are so complete in appurtenances, too, that every branch of the manufacture is conducted in the establishment; the raw wool being taken in at one end, and after going through the processes of washing, dyeing, weaving, &c., in its progress, is turned out finished goods at the other end, going, in fact, from the shears of the shepherd to those of the upholsterer. So fine is the gloss on many of these worsteds that they are frequently mistaken for silk material.

SCOFIELD, CAPRON & Co. exhibit a varied assortment of shawls manufactured at Walden, Orange County, N. Y. The plaids, especially, show to most excellent advantage.

In the carpet line there are not many exhibitors, but the style of goods shown proves that our manufacturers are not a whit behind those of Europe. The Lowell Manufacturing Company, the Hartford Carpet Company, of Thompsonville, Conn., and the Roxbury Carpet Company, of Massachusetts, display beautiful specimens of their production.

From the patent power loom, of Yonkers, N. Y., of which Messrs. A. T. STEWART & Co. are agents, there are splendid patterns of Axminster carpets, which would lose nothing by comparison with English manufacture.

The Bigelow Carpet Company, of Clinton, Mass., exhibit numerous specimens of carpets, besides mats and rugs of superior quality.

From the Lippitt Woolen Company, Woonsocket, R. I., there are a numerous variety of cloths, of divers patterns and of superior finish.

The Pacific Mills, of Lawrence, Mass., present a fine display of ladies' dress goods, of entirely new patterns, besides a great variety of delaines, poplins, &c.

The Washington Mills, of Lawrence, Mass., have on exhibition a large assortment of Waverley cloakings, poplins, coupé pelisse and carriage cloths, numerous patterns of imitation Scotch cassimeres and Italian cloths, which seem to be fully equal to the originals, besides shawls, coatings and other fabrics of the finest texture, the whole presenting a most excellent appearance.

WM. DUNCAN & SON exhibit a large variety of print goods, piano covers, blankets, &c., manufactured at their mills in Franklin, Essex County, N. J. The printed centre pieces and borderings on many of these are so well executed that they might be very readily mistaken for embroidery.

A grand display of chinchillas, ladies' heavy cloakings, delaines and fine cloths, manufactured at the Salisbury Mills, Massachusetts, attract attention by reason of their excellence of finish and the superior quality of the material of which they are composed.

From the Riverside Mills there are samples of rugs, astrakhans and ladies' cloakings of various styles and qualities.

The agents of the Byram River Mills, New-York, exhibit a number of chinchillas made of cotton warp, which, to all appearances, are fully as fine in texture as those made altogether of wool.

A large variety of Melton plaids, the product of the American Mills, of Rockville, Conn., are fully equal to any imported goods either in point of finish or material.

The Elliott Felting Mills, of Franklin City, Mass., exhibit a number of druggets that for durability of wear and excellence of finish cannot be surpassed.

A large assortment of fancy cassimeres from the manufactory of JESSE EDDY & SON, Fall River, Mass., show to most excellent advantage.

From the Atlantic Delaine Company, of Providence, R. I., there are merinoes, shawls and delaines of all varieties of style and finish, which do not suffer in comparison with any goods of foreign manufacture.

A large assortment of pantaloon stuffs from the Rock Company, of Rockville, Conn., make an excellent show. The texture is fine, and the finish fully equal to that of any imported cloth. And the same may be said of the display of samples made by the Hockanum Company, of Rockville, Conn., and the Utica Steam Mills, of New-York.

The woolen mills of Laurenceburg, Ind., present for exhibition a varied assortment of cloths, which show that the manufacturers of the West are not a great way behind their Eastern brethren; although when compared with many samples from the mills of New-England the display is not so remarkable as when considered by itself. It demonstrates, however, that the West is wide awake, and, after a few years' experience, will produce qualities of cloth unsurpassed in the American market.

The Arlington Mills, of Lawrence, Mass., exhibit a superior assortment of "Dublin twills" for ladies' wear, and light cloths of many varieties.

Among the woolens on exhibition is a superior variety from the Diamond Worsted Mills, of Philadelphia, owned by SCHEPPERS BROTHERS. These gentlemen were large manufacturers in Belgium, and were for many years engaged in exporting their goods to this country. Lately, however, they removed hither, and now claim that they turn out a style of cloth even superior to that which they once exported from Belgium. The samples on exhibition would seem to bear out this idea.

Messrs. BAUENDAHL & Co., of this City, exhibit an article of ladies' cloaking manufactured at their mills, which is not only intrinsically good, but is remarkable for being a reproduction of Austrian manufacture.

Besides these there are cloths from the Harris Woolen Mill, of Woonsocket, R. I.; from the Weybosset Mills, of Providence; overcoatings from the Wauskuck Mills, of Providence; broadcloths from Pittsfield, Mass.; silk and wool mixtures from the Elbesuf Mills, of Little Falls, N. Y.; beavers manufactured by the Wommbo Company, of Lisbon Falls, Me.; and cloths of various kinds from the Mohawk Mills, of Little Falls, the Harrison and the Yantico Mills, of Franklin, N. J.; plaids from the Central Mill, of Uxbridge, Mass.; from the Plymouth Woolen Company, of Thomaston, Conn., and the Conshohocken Mills, of Pennsylvania.

Taken altogether, this department of woolen manufactures is one of the most interesting in the whole exhibition, and shows the great progress that has been made by our people within a few years in giving the country a proud name and reputation among manufacturing nations.

THE LABOR MOVEMENT.

Important Action of the German Central Workingmen's Union—More Strikes in View.

The German Central Workingmen's Union, composed of delegates representing some seventy-three trade societies, has taken action to coöperate with the Workingmen's Union during the approaching campaign, and it has been decided that a mass meeting shall be called at an early day at the Cooper Institute. An Executive Committee was appointed, to act with a similar Committee of the Workingmen's Union in reference to this matter. The Committee was composed as follows: JOHN M. BOSSONG, of the German Carvers' Association; FOURELLE, of the Barbers' Union; MEYER, of the General Workingmen's Union; A. KAMPRAD, Cigarmakers' Union; OESTREICHER, Capmakers' Union; WM. GUDENRATH, Machinists and Metal Workers; F. LANGE, Pianomakers; JOHN SCHLECHTER, Upholsterers; H. LENZ, United Varnishers; F. TRANEN, Clothing Cutters; F. PEYER, Carpenters; GRIMME, Costume Tailors; C. BADING, Tailors' Union No. 1, New-York; G. VOGEL, Gilders; F. PISCHEL, German Masons No. 12.

A German workingmen's organization on a new plan is in the course of formation. It is to be named the Hildise Bund, and is to be based on the principle that the dependence of labor on capital is the greatest evil of the present social system. By weekly contributions a fund is to be created to carry out its objects. A fund is also to be created to be used to prevent the impoverishing of laboring families.

The German fresco painters have taken action against some abuses in their trade. It appears that house painters have assumed to do the work of fresco painters, and a meeting in reference to this matter is to be held in the course of the present week. The fresco painters in this City number about 400, and earn $4 50 for nine hours' work, while the house painters number thousands, and earn only $4 for ten hours' work.

The German tailors on the west side have organized to enforce an increase of wages of twenty-five per cent., and it is likely that another strike will be the result.

The New-Jersey State Fair.

The eleventh annual Fair of the New-Jersey State Agricultural Society opened upon the Fair Grounds a short distance southwest of the depot at Waverly yesterday morning. The exhibition of fruit and vegetables promises far to exceed the display at any previous fair. The total entries of cattle number upward of twelve hundred. Many people visited the grounds yesterday. The programme announced for to-day was fully carried out. At 2 o'clock there was a trial of speed between road horses, before road wagons, best three in five. There were three entries for the prizes to be awarded to the two most successful competitors in this race. Mr. HENRY MERCY's mare Josephine won the three heats and took the first prize, the sum of $50. The second prize, $25, was won by Mr. JOSEPH COLLIER's Black Crook.

At 2:30 o'clock, upon the piece of ground inclosed by the race course, a game of base-ball for the prize colors was begun between the Harlem Juniors, of New-York, and the Amateurs, of Newark. The game lasted till dusk, and resulted in a victory for the Amateurs, the score being 48 to 12.

At 3 o'clock the trial between road horses, owned in the State, was announced. Speed and other qualities were, in this race, considered. The prizes were, $140 the first, and $20 the second. E. D. CAMP's, named ——, won the first heat in 2:49, and the third in 2:47½, the second being won by COLLIER's Black Crook in 2:49. At 3:30 o'clock P. M., a race between four-year-old and under five-year-old geldings, was called, the prizes being for the best $30, and for the second best $20. Two entries were made; of the three heats ran, a horse belonging to Mr. SMALLEY, of Newark, won two, the time being, in the first heat 3:26, and in the second 3:15. The fair will close on Friday evening.

The Short Supply of Water.

Owing to the prevailing drought, our water supply has been materially lessened, and the pressure at the Croton Dam has decreased to such a degree, that in the residences on the more elevated portions of Manhattan Island the water cannot be forced up beyond the second story. The water is lower than it has ever been; but the City is not without an ample supply for all needful purposes. The Aqueduct is now bringing hither daily 35,000,000 gallons, and there are in the reservoirs in the City not less than 500,000,000 gallons. Still, considering the immense amount of consumption in New-York, the supply is very short. The reservoir at the Croton Dam is falling about two inches daily. We may certainly expect rains within the next fourteen days, and the present supply, without their aid, will last us twenty days. In the meantime it is highly necessary for all persons to do what they can (and each householder can do a great deal) to prevent the waste of water in every section of the City. The Croton Board are not unmindful of their duties. They are daily taking measures to decrease the consumption of water, and if their efforts are seconded by the people there will be no suffering for a lack of the necessary fluid. The storage reservoir, now in process of construction at Kent, Putnam County, will, when completed, remedy this short supply for the future.

Sabbath School Convention.

The United Presbyterian Sabbath School Convention held its opening exercises last evening in the Seventh-avenue Church, below Thirteenth-street. Rev. J. H. ROBERTSON, of Mumford, addressed the large audience on the "Aim of the Sabbath School Teacher," which, he said, should be, first, to gather in scholars to the school; second, to instruct them in the faith and doctrines of the Bible, and, third, to develop activity and a desire to do good among children. The remainder of the evening was spent in devotional exercises.

To-day the Convention will meet again at 10:30 o'clock, when the following subjects will be discussed: "What is the best mode of conducting the Sabbath School Session?" "What influence has home teaching on the Sabbath School?" "Wants of our Sabbath School and how to meet them." "What are the necessary qualifications of a Sabbath School teacher?" In the evening Rev. GEORGE MINGINS will make an address on "The best means of increasing the number and efficiency of our Sabbath Schools."

The Holy Land.

Rabbi H. Z. SNEERSOHN, of Jerusalem, lectured last evening in Room No. 14 Cooper Institute, on the Holy Land. The lecturer, who was dressed in Oriental costume, confined his remarks chiefly to the City of Hebron, the burying place of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob. The lecture was nevertheless interesting and instructive. He described the tombs of the fathers of Israel; the wars in which the Jews were compelled to disfigure themselves in order to escape the vengeance of the Mussulmans; the climate, which he pronounced eminently conducive to health, and unembarrassed by a single European physician; and lastly, the attachment through which the Jews linger around the tombs of their forefathers, notwithstanding Turkish oppressions, concluding with a prayer that God would fulfill His promise to restore the Jews to the land of their forefathers.

Cruelty to Animals.

In the case of the inhuman treatment of a horse at Hudson, N. Y., and the arrest of the alleged perpetrator of the outrage, which was referred to in the TIMES of yesterday, we have received a communication from the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, which says that the attention of the Society was first called to the act in question by an article in the Hudson Register of the 3d inst., in which it was stated that a horse owned by Mr. SPRAGUE, the owner of a brick-yard in Hudson, had had its tongue torn from its socket by tying a strap thereto, tearing the roots and muscles to a horrible extent. A correspondence thereupon ensued between the Society and Mr. M. P. WILLIAMS, the editor of the Register, which resulted in the arrest of a man named JAMES BRENNER, by the direction of and under a warrant issued on the complaint of the Society.

Burglary at Irvington—House of Cyrus W. Field Entered.

The country residence of CYRUS W. FIELD, Esq., at Irvington, on the Hudson, was entered by burglars Sunday night, during a temporary absence of the family, and property of much value secured, which was collected in a bundle, and, from some unexplained cause, left on the lawn some distance from the house. Two attempts were again made Monday night to enter the house, on the supposition that the family were still absent, but the attempts were, fortunately, unsuccessful.

Alleged Homicide.

Mrs. CORRIGAN, the old lady who, it is alleged, was knocked down and kicked in a brutal manner by one JOHN DEVLIN, in her own house at Guttenburg, while endeavoring to prevent a disturbance between DEVLIN and her son, on the night of Sunday, the 5th inst., died yesterday morning. Coroner WHITE was notified and summoned a jury, who, after viewing the remains, adjourned until this morning at 10 o'clock. DEVLIN is held to bail to answer in the sum of $2,000.

The Pension Frauds.

MARY ENNIS, an ex-soldier's widow, charged with having committed perjury, was held in the sum of $600 bail to await the action of the Grand Jury, by United States Commissioner STILLWELL, yesterday. The complaint against her declares that she married a man named KING after the death of her first husband, and that she subsequently made oath that she was living in a state of widowhood for the purpose of obtaining pension money.

Homeless Boys for the West.

Another of those interesting companies, of young people which the Children's Aid Society periodically dispatch to the West, left the City yesterday in charge of one of the Society's officers. About fifty of the party were homeless boys from 12 to 16 years of age, who had been temporarily residing at the Newsboys' Lodging House. Throughout the Summer months they were engaged in selling newspapers and blacking boots; but with commendable forethought and characteristic shrewdness, they concluded to relinquish those callings in favor of another which will afford them not only a permanent home, but protection from those privations which they know from experience to be the inevitable accompaniments of Winter.

Book Trade Sales.

The book trade sale was continued yesterday at the room of Messrs. LEAVITT, STREBEIGH & Co. SHELDON & Co.'s publications realized excellent prices. GOULD & LINCOLN's publications realized good prices, and the bidding was exceedingly brisk when Messrs. CHAS. SCRIBNER & Co.'s publications were disposed of. The publications of Messrs. SCRIBNER, WELFORD & Co., JAMES MILLER, M. W. DODGE and the Protestant Publication Society were likewise disposed of at fair prices.

Alleged Outrage by a Wall-street Broker.

Captain JOURDAN arrested J. M. GOULD, of No. 58 Wall-street, yesterday, on a warrant issued by Justice DOWLING, on a charge of having abducted and outraged the person of Mrs. ANNA MEAD. The complainant made affidavit that she was induced to accompany the accused to Staten Island for the purpose of seeing her husband, from whom she had been separated, and that while there the offence was committed.

Trotting at Fashion Course.

There was a trot at Fashion Course yesterday. The following is the summary:

FASHION COURSE, Sept. 21.—Match for $1,000 a side, mile heats, three in five, to harness.

C. V. Brooks' b. g. J. Connelley	1	2	1	1
J. Murphy's ro. g. Saltpetre	2	1	2	2

Failure of a Heavy Dry-Goods House.

Commercial circles in this City have experienced a sensation in the failure of the large fancy dry-goods firm of BURCHARD, WILSON & Co., No. 81 Franklin-street, whose financial difficulties culminated in suspension on the 14th inst. Their liabilities amount to $104,000.

An Inhuman Mother.

Coroner WHITE, of Hoboken, held an inquest yesterday on a child named PAULINE PECANT, but a few days old, supposed to have been starved to death. From the evidence of MARY MULLER it seems that the mother refused to nurse the child. The inquest was adjourned until this evening.

FOREIGN MARKETS.

STRIKE FOR KNOX'S DIRECT.—A guest of the Hoffman House, one day during the past week, seeking for a hat to suit his taste, visited every hat store on Broadway and failed to satisfy himself until he reached KNOX's, No. 212 Broadway. Here he experienced no difficulty. Avail yourself of his experience, and strike direct for KNOX's and thus save trouble and expense. Fall style out.

SEVEN PER CENT.
FIRST MORTGAGE
CONVERTIBLE, SINKING FUND
GOLD BONDS
OF THE
Danville, Urbana, Bloomington and Pekin Railroad Company
OF ILLINOIS,
PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST PAYABLE IN GOLD AT THE FARMERS' LOAN AND TRUST COMPANY, NEW-YORK. COUPONS PAYABLE FIRST OF APRIL AND OCTOBER.
FREE OF GOVERNMENT TAX.

Total Issue..................$2,000,000
Capital Stock.................. 3,000,000

The Bonds are a first mortgage on the railway, its rolling stock, depots, machine shops, lands, and the entire property of the Company.

The road is 117 5-100 miles in length, the only East and West line connecting the Cities of Danville, Urbana, Bloomington and Pekin on the line of the old Emigrant Road. This section has been justly named the Garden of the West, and is noted for its large agricultural and manufacturing products, also for its valuable mines of coal. The local business will make the line a FIRST-CLASS PAYING ROAD. In addition the Company provide for a large through business, having as MANY VALUABLE CONNECTIONS EAST AND WEST AS ANY ROAD now in operation. The line has lately been consolidated with the Indianapolis and Danville Road, making over 200 miles under one management.

At Indianapolis it connects with the Pennsylvania Central, Baltimore and Ohio, also with several other lines at Danville, with the Toledo, Wabash and Western, and at Pekin with Peoria, making a new through direct route in Illinois, connecting Philadelphia, New-York, Boston and Baltimore with Peoria, Keokuk, Burlington, Omaha and the Far West.

The road is being rapidly constructed, all graded and bridged, the track laying at the rate of one mile per day, all the iron and a large amount of rolling stock provided. The whole road WILL BE COMPLETED BEFORE THE 1ST OF JANUARY NEXT.

The bonds average LESS THAN EIGHTEEN THOUSAND DOLLARS PER MILE, are CONVERTIBE INTO STOCK AT PAR, at the option of the holder, at any time, and may be registered in the name of the owner if desired.

The stocks of several of the principal lines of Illinois are selling at from above par to nearly 200. There is a reasonable prospect of the stock of this road, at no distant day, selling as high as either of them, which makes the convertible clause a valuable option.

We have PERSONALLY EXAMINED THE ROAD, and consider the bonds A CHOICE SECURITY; we therefore take pleasure in recommending them to investors as SAFE, PROFITABLE AND RELIABLE. A large portion of the loan has already been sold.

We are authorized to offer them for the present at 95 and accrued interest in currency, the Company reserving the right to advance the price, without notice. At this price THEY PAY TEN PER CENT. in currency—nearly FIFTY PER CENT. MORE THAN THE SAME AMOUNT INVESTED IN GOVERNMENTS. Gold and all marketable securities received in exchange at highest market rates. Bonds forwarded by express free of charge.

TALES OF WOE
FOR THE RUPTURED.

EXTRACT FROM DR. SHERMAN'S CASE BOOK.

Mr. W. L., painter, wore two of Marsh's trusses, from which he experienced great injury and suffering. Complaining to Dr. Marsh of the inefficiency of the first truss, the doctor put on the second with greater pressure; it was terribly severe, yet at times the rupture slipped by it and almost killed him. Becoming discouraged from unbearable suffering and the increase of his rupture by Dr. Marsh's treatment, he threw the truss away and applied to Dr. Sherman as his last hope.

Dr. SHERMAN is daily receiving similar complaints of the inflictions of this brazen imposter, and who to divert attention from himself, shouts "Beware!"

Dr. SHERMAN'S

Method of treating rupture varies from all others, and is a guarantee of radical cure, without confinement, restriction in exercise or diet.
